

Former Wardens
Of Atlanta Pen
Face New Charges

A. E. Sartain and L. J. Fletcher Charged in Two Indictments With Accepting Bribe Money.

FATHER HAYDEN'S NAME
COUPLED WITH CHARGES

Former Warden and Deputy Warden Will Be Placed Under Additional Bonds of $5,000 Each.

New indictments which were returned Wednesday afternoon by the federal grand jury against A. E. Sartain and L. J. Fletcher, former warden and deputy warden, respectively, of the Atlanta federal penitentiary, and indictment charges to the effect that Rev. Father Thomas P. Hayden, former prison chaplain, had been paid a sum of money alleged to have been part of a $10,500 bribe, were outstanding features of the special session. Father Hayden, however, was not indicted. Officials conducting the probe declined to comment on the possibility that the grand jury would return an indictment against Father Hayden. Belief that further developments will follow the sweeping investigation which has been under way at the prison for several weeks is indicated by the fact that the grand jury will meet again in special session today and that all witnesses heard Wednesday will again be summoned to appear. Two new indictments were returned against the former prison officials, the first a joint indictment charging both men and another party whose name has not been made public, with conspiracy to accept and receive a bribe in violation of sections 117 and 37 of the penal code of the United States. The second is a separate charge against Sartain, charging bribery. It was pointed out that the bribery charge against Sartain was the same as that returned in an indictment in December, but was made to correct the name of a witness, C. Graham Baughn, whose name was spelled Baugh in the first indictment. Additional bonds of $5,000 each were assessed against Sartain and Fletcher.

DOUBLE SCHOOL
SESSIONS AVERTED

Superintendent Sutton Warns That Double Sessions Will Come Unless Relief Is Provided.

Atlanta Junior High schools will be able to complete the school year without holding double sessions, it was announced Wednesday by W. L. A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, who stated that threatened double sessions would not be necessary. "By making desperate arrangements," Mr. Sutton said, "we have prevented the necessity of holding double sessions in the Junior High schools this year. At the O'Keefe and Bass schools halls have been screened off at both ends for class rooms and classes even will be held in the furnace room at the O'Keefe Junior High. Practically the same method will be made necessary at the Brown Junior High school during next semester, which starts February 2. "However, unless other provision

EVIDENCE BARRED
IN EDWARDS TRIAL

Court Rules Out Fingerprint Testimony as Taken Against Wishes of Accused Physician.

Bessemer, Ala., January 28.—All fingerprint evidence was barred by Judge J. C. B. Gwin today in the trial of Dr. George T. Edwards on a charge of killing his wife, on the grounds that prints of the accused physician were taken against his wish. Solicitor Ben Perry made an effort to introduce the fingerprint evidence. After Judge Gwin's ruling, the defense attorney moved to discharge the jury and continue the case on the ground that the solicitor had already placed fingerprint "talk" before the jury. The motion was denied. The court also prevented the prosecution from introducing testimony as to the effect of certain drugs on a patient. One count in the indictment against Dr. Edwards charges that he caused his wife's death by administering a drug. Dr. Earl Cornwell, who treated the wound in Dr. Edwards' hand, testified that the bullet was fired at close range and away from the physician's body rather than toward it. Solicitor Perry announced that the state would conclude its testimony tomorrow. Police Chief Y. L. Anthony, of Fairfield, and B. H. Tillman, a deputy from the solicitor's office, told of searching the Edwards home on Sunday after the slaying and finding a .44 caliber pistol, stained with blood, in a scuttle hole in the attic. Defense attorneys put the officers under a heavy fire in efforts to make them admit that the weapon was "planted" as part of their alleged "frame-up program," but Anthony and Tillman refused.

HERRIN WITNESSES
'FORGET' DETAILS

Alleged Fear of Warring Factions Causes Lapse of Memory on Part of Men Questioned.

Herrin, Ill., January 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—A noncommittal verdict of the coroner's jury was in prospect here tonight as a result of testimony heard today relative to the deaths of S. Glenn Young, Klan liquor raider, and Deputy Sheriff Ora Thomas. Of 17 witnesses heard, but one man testified that he saw shots fired. He admitted he had no idea which man fired first. Twenty witnesses did not radically disagree with testimony given yesterday. Elias (Lisp) Green, who was counted as an eyewitness, said he did not see a shot fired, but that he could not say that either Thomas or Young fired a shot. Green previously has said that he had pushed Young as the raider fired his first shot, leaving the impression that he had made it go wild. His eyewitness testimony ended the triumph of Walska's grand opera career—aplanse.

CONFEREES NAMED ON MUSCLE SHOALS

Keys, McKinley, Kendrick To Represent Senate—McKenzie, Morin, Quin Chosen by House.

Washington, January 28.—The Underwood bill, authorizing the lease of Muscle Shoals, advanced a step further today toward final consideration when it was referred to conference, composed mainly of friendly conferees. Both opponents and supporters agreed this action indicated that the measure, with some modification, would pass both the senate and house at this session. The conferees will assemble tomorrow to take up the bill and after a few days' deliberation, the measure is expected to be brought back before the senate and house for a final vote. The senate today, after a controversy of more than two hours, named as conferees Senators Keys, New Hampshire; McKinley, Illinois; republicans, and Kendrick, Wyoming, democrats. Opponents of the Underwood bill centered their efforts toward having as conferees Chairman Norris, of the senate agriculture committee; Senators McNary, Oregon, and Smith, South Carolina, ranking republican and democratic members of the committee. If the usual custom of selection of conferees had been followed, they Pioneer Woman Suffrage Leader Accepts Invitation of Atlanta Federated Women.

BY BESSIE S. STAFFORD. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who became known as "America's Mother of Suffrage" through her indefatigable efforts in the fight for woman suffrage, and who is one of the most outstanding women orators in the country, has accepted an invitation extended to her by the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs through Mrs. T. T. Stevens, its president, and will come to Atlanta to deliver a lecture before members of that organization and their friends on March 1. This was announced Wednesday at a meeting of the federation's executive board at which several important resolutions were adopted. The board also voted to ask Frank L. Stanton, poet-laureate of the state, to write a Georgia song for the federation. Resolutions pledged earnest efforts to a closer cooperation of home industries.

10,000 Klansmen To Mourn
HERRIN, SPELLBOUND, AWAITS MAMMOTH FUNERAL
At Bier of 'Two-Gun' Kleagle

BY OTIS PEABODY SWIFT. Herrin, Ill., January 28.—"Bloody" Herrin is waiting for what probably will be the most imposing spectacle in all its hate-ridden, blood-stained history—the funeral of S. Glenn Young, picturesque Klan feudist, stormy petrel of Williamson county's interminable strife of Klan and anti-Klan, union and non-union factions. An estimated host of 25,000 Klansmen, friends and admirers of the intrepid two-gun Kleagle, will descend upon the little mining town Thursday, to do honor to the memory of the "man-killer"—the sobriquet by which Young is known to his enemies. The burial rites will be elaborate. White-robed, hooded Klansmen will, they say, take possession of Herrin. There will be a mammoth funeral procession composed of 10,000 members of the Klan arrayed in full Klan regalia. After a lengthy burial liturgy in which clergy from the Baptist, Christian and Methodist churches here will participate, interment will be made in the city cemetery. Workmen are still busy building the massive mausoleum of marble and concrete which is inlaid with silver and has been especially constructed to receive the remains of the "two-gun" Kleagle. Visitors jammed Herrin Wednesday, coming from neighboring states within a radius of 500 miles—Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky and Indiana. They form a tangled, struggling procession two blocks long to the Baptist church where Young's bullet-riddled corpse lies in state, encased in a mahogany coffin inlaid with ivory. The body lies in a valley of flowers, tributes from hundreds of admirers. One huge emblem of red roses was sent from the negro Sunday school at Colby, a few miles from Herrin, where Young frequently directed his liquor raiding forays which developed Herrin into two warring camps, and provoked the town to civil war. Klan organizations from half a dozen states have telegraphed floral tributes. Seventeen witnesses were questioned Wednesday at the inquest regarding events leading up to the carnival of slaughter Saturday night in front of the European hotel here when three Klansmen, and a deputy sheriff were slain and two pedestrians injured.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

ON CITY CHARTER

Mrs. S. B. Turman Raps Adverse Report on Charter Changes Proposed by League.

Despite committee reports which state that an investigation has shown that Atlanta is not yet ready for a new charter and unofficial statements to the effect that the fight for a new charter had been called off, the League of Women Voters will continue its battle for a new city charter until the charter is voted, it was stated Wednesday night by Mrs. S. B. Turman, president of the league. "There evidently has been a misunderstanding as to the exact functions of the committee appointed by Councilman E. H. Inman," Mrs. Turman said. "At a meeting of citizens interested in the new charter, which was held December 9, Mr. Inman, as temporary chairman, was instructed to appoint a committee of five which, in turn, was to have appointed an organization committee. The latter committee then was to have perfected arrangements to work toward establishment of the council-manager form of government here. Mr. Inman several days ago reported findings of his committee to the league and the league now has the matter back in its own hands."

Regardless of Its Effect on His Nomination To Supreme Court, Attorney General Will Push Probe

BY THOMAS L. STOKES. Washington, January 28.—Attorney General Stone, grilled for several hours by those senators in whose hands lies largely the fate of his nomination to the supreme court, burl: back the challenge that, come what may, he intends to go through with the new case here against Senator Wheeler of Montana. Answering a second objection to his elevation, which has been raised by certain democrats, Stone denied that he had any connection with the Owenby case tried in the Delaware courts, other than that of presenting the constitutional argument before the supreme court. Considered Again Monday. After the all-day cross-examination Wednesday, the committee went into executive session over Stone's testimony, and broke up without any action on the nomination. It will be considered further Monday, and long delay is in sight. Stone revealed for the first time Wednesday that the new case against Senator Wheeler and others hinges around a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government of oil and mineral lands. This is connected with the case now pending in Montana.

CORDON OF POLICE
GUARD BOULEVARD

Bandits Terrorize North Boulevard, Ransacking Homes and Obtaining Big Loot.

A cordon of detectives and special policemen was thrown around all of North Boulevard late Wednesday night, following two successive and daring burglaries within an hour, which netted a band of prowlers more than $1,000 in jewelry and several hundred dollars' worth of expensive garments and other articles. The two burglaries occurred within a block of each other and authorities are positive they were committed by the same parties. The first alarm came from Miss Billie Bryson and Mrs. C. G. Murphy, who occupy an apartment at 517 North Boulevard. These two women were enjoying a movie down town when the burglary happened. When they returned home they found their apartment had been stripped of jewelry worth approximately $1,000, several costly dresses, silk stockings and other articles of clothing. Detectives Warren and Chester were just arriving on the scene of the first burglary when the telephone rang violently and they were told that Detectives Portwood and McCreary were joining them, together with half a dozen special policemen, in emergency automobiles, to track down the prowlers, who had just left the home of Mrs. Amy V. Cox, at 605 North Boulevard, where they pilfered several silk dresses, several pairs of hose, two pairs of shoes, a small

DETAILS OF TRAGEDY
NOT RECEIVED HERE

Two Men Left Atlanta Monday for Tour of Florida on Business, Mrs. Priest Said.

The bodies of E. H. Priest, 41, of 144 Myrtle street, Atlanta, and William H. Shoemaker, also of this city, were taken from a small pond seven miles south of St. Augustine, Fla., early Wednesday night, according to Associated Press dispatches. In the creek was a wrecked automobile in which they had been riding and which obviously had plunged over a sharp embankment. Both men had been drowned. Mr. Priest had been in Atlanta for three years and was district manager for the Lee Tire and Rubber company here. He had been with this organization in executive capacities for the last 15 years, acting as assistant general sales manager at the New York office before coming south. The other victim, Mr. Shoemaker, was a salesman. The two men motored out of Atlanta last Monday, intending to make a long sales campaign tour of the state of Florida. Mrs. Priest, who has been in ill health for some time, was prostrated when a Constitution reporter called at the home at midnight Wednesday. She had heard nothing from the authorities at St. Augustine. She was so ill from the shock she could not talk. Relatives and friends were summoned to care for her and they said that besides his widow, Mr. Priest is survived by a son, Jack, 18, and several brothers and sisters, the names of whom could not be obtained. The Priests formerly lived in Virginia. It was impossible to communicate with the family of Mr. Shoemaker, but it was established that he was employed by the Lee Tire company as a salesman, and was with Mr. Priest at the time of the accident. No additional details of the tragedy could be obtained from Florida early Thursday morning.

FORMER CHAPLAIN INVOLVED IN TWO

Fletcher was in Atlanta when the indictments were returned, and Sartain was in Jacksonville, Fla. He was notified of the new bills and was on his way to Atlanta Wednesday night, according to Hooper Alexander, W. Paul Carpenter and Schley Howard, attorneys for the two men, who stated that their clients would make good today or Friday.

Under Heavy Bonds.

Both Sartain, deposed warden at the penitentiary, and Fletcher, resigned warden, are under indictment on charges of accepting bribes, the indictments being returned in December as results of a sweeping investigation of conditions existing at the prison, and conducted by department of justice agents. Both men are free under $5,000 bonds each.

Indictments bear the names of the following witnesses: Thomas P. Hayden, former pen chaplain; Chesley C. Tuten, W. H. Haas, Graham Baughn, Harry Yakum, Dr. L. W. Williams, Richard Bailey, Dr. A. F. Quillian, Fred P. Haas, Jr., Carl Haas, James Tuten, John Bailey, Captain J. S.

Madden, Captain E. McL. Smith and Captain R. N. Treadway, and others.

Other Action Indicated.

While neither United States District Attorney G. W. Hager nor P. P. Dodge, department of justice agent, who has been in charge of the probe at the penitentiary, would say Wednesday whether or not the investigation had ended, indications pointed to the surmise that the grand jury would take additional action today. The jury is scheduled to meet again this morning and witnesses who testified Wednesday were brought into the offices of the district attorney Wednesday afternoon for a conference with government agents, including Hager and Dodge.

The conspiracy indictment returned Wednesday, which bore the names of 16 witnesses, again mentioned the name of Rev. Father Thomas P. Hayden, former priest chaplain, who was mentioned in the first indictments, although no bill was found against him. The indictment alleged that Father Hayden and another person "in accept and receive bribes" from prisoners.

The indictment sets out that on March 29, 1924, Sartain, Fletcher and another person did unlawfully, wilfully and feloniously conspire, combine, confederate and agree among themselves, and together with one Thomas P. Hayden to commit an offense against the United States, to wit, to receive bribes, and not being indicted as a defendant in this indictment.

Conspiracy Set Out.

It charges that the officials conspired to accept and receive $1,500 from each of the following prisoners: Willie H. Haas, C. C. Tuten, C. Graham Baughn, Richard Bailey, Sam Goldberg, Frederick P. Haas, Jr., and Carl Haas, making a total of $10,500 "with the intent to have the decision and action of them and each of them influenced thereby in a matter pending before them." The indictment alleges that the money was to be paid in exchange for the officials' influence in obtaining easy work assignments for the prisoners named, special privileges and liberties not enjoyed by other convicts and special living quarters.

The indictment sets out that on March 19, 1924, Father Hayden and the other person, who was named, did not make public, went to Savannah and received from Willie H. Haas $10,500. "After the $2,100 had been paid to Father Hayden," the indictment says, "the balance of $8,400 was brought back to Atlanta for the use and benefit of the defendants."

It is set out that on April 2 Fletcher assigned Willie H. Haas and C. C. Tuten to clerical work in the chief clerk's office; Graham Baughn to work in the library; Richard Bailey and Sam Goldberg to work in the clothing room; Fred P. Haas, Jr., to work in the mail office, and Carl Haas to work as radio man and radio operator at the prison, that all the men named were assigned in Basement "A" for living and sleeping quarters.

Remus Sees His Wife.

Mrs. George Remus and her husband, known as the "bootleg" king, were in the witness room all Wednesday morning, together with three other prisoners brought to Atlanta from Athens, where they have been held in the Clarke county jail since the first indictments were returned against the penitentiary officials. However, neither Remus nor his wife were called as witnesses Wednesday, it was said.

Other prisoners brought from Athens included Willie Haas, of Savannah; Mammie Kessler, alleged millionaire bootlegger, of New York, and C. C. Tuten, of Detroit.

Remus was allowed to see his wife, but all newspapermen were barred from conversing with either.

Indictments against Sartain and Fletcher are the results of an investigation which has been conducted by the penitentiary here for several weeks. Fletcher resigned, giving as his reason that he was going in business in Miami, Fla. A short time later, Sartain, at the request of the attorney general, accepted his resignation, and was succeeded, temporarily, by T. B. White, department of justice agent, who remained in charge of affairs at the prison until the arrival last week of John Snook, newly appointed warden.

Father Hayden resigned shortly after the investigation got under way, it is said.

Will Mark Camp Sites.

Launching of a patriotic movement to mark all camp sites used during the World War was approved. This resolution was brought to the attention of the meeting by Mrs. Stevens, originator of the plan. The executive board of the club voted unanimously to proceed with presentation to the government of a perfected plan for marking camp sites, and the history of Camp Gordon and other national camps will be preserved by bronze tablets and markers of various descriptions.

A telegram was read at the meeting from Senator Harris, of Georgia, in which he pledged support to the plan and that he would introduce a bill in congress to appropriate sufficient money for this purpose at an early date.

It also was announced that Georgia day February 12 would be fittingly observed by the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs.

Much important routine business was transacted at Wednesday's session.

The date of Mrs. Catt's lecture was approved at the meeting Wednesday by members of the executive committee, which was held at the home of the vice president, Mrs. Robert K. Rambo, on Briarcliff road. Mrs. Catt is chairman of the national committee of the conference on cause and cure of war, and the subject of her lecture will be "Peace versus War."

The executive board voted to go forward in presenting to the government a perfected plan whereby the history of Camp Gordon and other national camps will be preserved by bronze tablets and markers. The following telegram to Mrs. Stevens from Senator Harris, of Georgia, was read.

"Telegram received relative to marking camp sites received. Quartermaster general has been absent and I desired to confer with him before replying. He approves of this patriotic work and will recommend for bureau of budget when they are preparing estimates for war department appropriations for next session. Appropriations for all war department activities passed both houses of congress last week and there will be no further session. Next session when appropriation bill for war department is before congress I shall offer an amendment appropriating sufficient money for this purpose and I wish to commend you for your interest in this worthy matter."

ANTI-PISTOL MOVE MAY BE DECIDED AT SESSION TODAY

Two important measures, one the proposed milk pasteurization ordinance and the other an ordinance to regulate the sale of pistols in Atlanta, will be among measures to be taken up today by the ordinance committee of city council at a meeting to be held in the mayor's office in city hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

From advance information it is expected that the committee's report on both will be favorable, although there is some slight possibility that opposition to the milk ordinance may develop.

The measure provides that within 12 months after passage of the ordinance all milk sold in Atlanta, with the exception of milk produced and graded "A" raw milk, shall be pasteurized. It has been recommended unanimously by members of the city milk commission.

The pistol ordinance, which was introduced by Councilman John A. White, would prevent sale of any pistol in the city of Atlanta except on the order of the police chief and approved by the mayor. A maximum fine of $200, or 30 days at work on the public works of the city, or both, are provided in the measure for any violation.

sum of money, perfume and other articles.

Cox was down town when the burglars called but must have scared them away, for there were evidences that their departure had been sudden.

The burglars gained entrance to both homes showed their experience in the game of house-breaking. They carefully searched every room, opened windows and apparently entered and got to work without much effort.

Occurants in both cases were away from home.

NEGRO JAILED FOLLOWING HOLDUP.

J. B. Harris, negro, of 38 Paynes avenue, is in police lockup on charges of suspicion in connection with the holdup and robbery Wednesday night of Richard Phio, owner of delicatessen at 822 Highland avenue. The "job" netted about $10 in money, and when Phio resisted the attempt to rob him, one of the two assailants drew a .45 caliber pistol over the head with the butt of a pistol. His injuries are not serious.

As the bandits fled, one of them fired at Phio, Call Officers Johnson and Cartright were told.

Harris was arrested some time later by Patrolmen Saturday and Herndon, who declared that Harris looked suspicious and when he was arrested a .45 caliber pistol was found secreted on him. He denied any connection with the hold-up.

STONE DEFIES ENEMIES IN WHEELER CASE

but is broader, and in Stone's opinion, distinct enough for a new case. He said that over 70 witnesses would testify.

Stone felt it his duty, he explained, to bring this new case in, but he emphasized that every person would be accorded Senator Wheeler. Several democrats argued against bringing the new case here, but Stone stood his ground.

It was a dramatic session. Stone sat throughout fingering his horn-rimmed spectacles, and kept a calm front in the face of many questions which might have provoked one with less even temper. Watching the proceedings closely from a tilted chair in a corner of the room was Senator Wheeler, casual and perfectly at ease. Occasionally, he walked over and said a word to Senator Walsh of Montana, who is his counsel.

With Walsh handling most of the cross-examination, insistent upon every detail, and never more inquisitive, the session resembled those of the investigation last winter, except that spectators were limited to newspaper correspondents and a few other people who wandered in and out.

Heard of Case Last Summer. A sensational touch was given to the cross-examination when Walsh revealed that he had been told at the Democratic convention in New Orleans last summer that a new case was to be brought against Wheeler here, and that the indictment in Montana might be dropped.

He was informed by William C. Dorsey, formerly employed by the department of justice, and received the information also in a telegram from Arthur P. Mullen, democratic national committeeman from Nebraska, in reply to an inquiry.

Stone said that Dorsey had told him the same thing, but that there was no foundation to reports of any such action at that time, and that the department of justice had then planned nothing of this kind.

Inspectors Furnish Evidence. Stone declared the "new evidence" which led to the grand jury action here against Wheeler was contained in a report of postoffice inspectors in the case of Gordon Campbell, Montana oil man and a client of Wheeler.

This angle came to light, the attorney general said, when he began an investigation of the whole matter after he took office. He assigned Assistant Attorney General Donovan to the case early in September, he said.

Donovan made a full report about the first of December. "It indicated that Campbell's promotion scheme involved fraudulently obtaining credentials for public lands from the officers of the interior department," he said. "It involved others beside Senator Wheeler."

Whole Aspect Changed. These subsequent investigations changed entirely the aspect of the crime which seemed to have been committed in Montana. Instead of a mere fraudulent scheme to use the mails in the selling of oil stock, it appeared that there was a scheme to defraud the United States of its public lands and of the oil and minerals underlying those lands.

"While from the facts presented to me it appeared that a number of people were unquestionably implicated in this transaction, it became apparent that testimony could not be taken with respect to it without indicating that Senator Wheeler was involved in it. I therefore came to the conclusion that in fairness to him and with a view to the due and orderly administration of justice, an opportunity should be given to him to explain his connection with the transaction."

Denies Making Statement. Stone denied that he ever had told Wheeler or Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, that if he had been attorney general the indictment against Wheeler would not have been brought. He said he had discussed the case with them.

Both Walsh and Reed, of Missouri, pressed Stone about bringing the case here. They insisted that the cases were so related, involving the same principles, that the whole matter could be decided in the Montana courts. Stone admitted that the cases were somewhat similar, but said that the new case here involved some who are not named in the case against sum of money, perfume and other articles.

Cox was down town when the burglars called but must have scared them away, for there were evidences that their departure had been sudden.

The burglars gained entrance to both homes showed their experience in the game of house-breaking. They carefully searched every room, opened windows and apparently entered and got to work without much effort.

Obviously, police declare, the two jobs were the work of veterans, for they did their work fast and left no clues. They took only articles of negotiable value and disturbed nothing else in either of the two homes.

Occurants in both cases were away from home.

NEGRO JAILED FOLLOWING HOLDUP.

J. B. Harris, negro, of 38 Paynes avenue, is in police lockup on charges of suspicion in connection with the holdup and robbery Wednesday night of Richard Phio, owner of delicatessen at 822 Highland avenue. The "job" netted about $10 in money, and when Phio resisted the attempt to rob him, one of the two assailants drew a .45 caliber pistol over the head with the butt of a pistol. His injuries are not serious.

As the bandits fled, one of them fired at Phio, Call Officers Johnson and Cartright were told.

Harris was arrested some time later by Patrolmen Saturday and Herndon, who declared that Harris looked suspicious and when he was arrested a .45 caliber pistol was found secreted on him. He denied any connection with the hold-up.

It was a dramatic session. Stone sat throughout fingering his horn-rimmed spectacles, and kept a calm front in the face of many questions which might have provoked one with less even temper. Watching the proceedings closely from a tilted chair in a corner of the room was Senator Wheeler, casual and perfectly at ease. Occasionally, he walked over and said a word to Senator Walsh of Montana, who is his counsel.

With Walsh handling most of the cross-examination, insistent upon every detail, and never more inquisitive, the session resembled those of the investigation last winter, except that spectators were limited to newspaper correspondents and a few other people who wandered in and out.

Heard of Case Last Summer. A sensational touch was given to the cross-examination when Walsh revealed that he had been told at the Democratic convention in New Orleans last summer that a new case was to be brought against Wheeler here, and that the indictment in Montana might be dropped.

He was informed by William C. Dorsey, formerly employed by the department of justice, and received the information also in a telegram from Arthur P. Mullen, democratic national committeeman from Nebraska, in reply to an inquiry.

Stone said that Dorsey had told him the same thing, but that there was no foundation to reports of any such action at that time, and that the department of justice had then planned nothing of this kind.

Inspectors Furnish Evidence. Stone declared the "new evidence" which led to the grand jury action here against Wheeler was contained in a report of postoffice inspectors in the case of Gordon Campbell, Montana oil man and a client of Wheeler.

This angle came to light, the attorney general said, when he began an investigation of the whole matter after he took office. He assigned Assistant Attorney General Donovan to the case early in September, he said.

Denies Making Statement. Stone denied that he ever had told Wheeler or Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, that if he had been attorney general the indictment against Wheeler would not have been brought. He said he had discussed the case with them.

Both Walsh and Reed, of Missouri, pressed Stone about bringing the case here. They insisted that the cases were so related, involving the same principles, that the whole matter could be decided in the Montana courts. Stone admitted that the cases were somewhat similar, but said that the new case here involved some who are not named in the case against Wheeler in Montana, and another case involving mail frauds, and was a distinct case. He argued that the acts alleged took place here, and said one reason he brought the case here was in order that agencies in Montana could not be used to influence its disposal.

Charges of Oweby. Of the case of James Owenby, of Colorado, about which he was questioned by Senator Overman, of North Carolina, and Senator Reed, of Missouri, Stone said that his first contact with it "was when I argued a constitutional question involved before the supreme court."

"Nothing came to my attention about the case until I was asked to present it to the supreme court," he said.

The case was aired in the open senate Tuesday by Senator Heflin, of Alabama, who attacked Stone bitterly for handling the case in the supreme court, which he described as the "worst piece of judicial tyranny" he had ever heard of.

EMPANEL SPECIAL JURY TO HEAR WHEELER CASE. Washington, January 28.—The special grand jury before which Attorney General Stone is expected to present evidence here in the case of Senator Wheeler, of Montana, was sworn in today in the supreme court of the District of Columbia. Wilbur T. Zepp, a bank official, was named foreman.

$100,000 READY TO REPAIR ROADS

In order to provide immediate funds for the use of the state highway department in the work of rebuilding and repairing bridges and highways that have been damaged by recent floods in south Georgia, the automobile department of the secretary of state's office on Wednesday paid $100,000 of 1925 automobile license tag money into the state treasury. All collections from the sale of auto tags are used, under the law, for the work of the highway department in road maintenance.

Sales of automobile tags are considerably higher this year than on the same date in 1924, but Secretary of State S. G. T. McIlwain pointed out that a large proportion of the increase probably is due to the greater number of automobiles operated in the state than last year.

Last year 153,000 tags were sold. Eliminating duplications this means that there were at least 150,000 automobiles in the state twelve months ago. It is estimated that the increase for the twelve-month period will bring this up to 200,000 at the present time.

Automobile owners are supposed to purchase new tags before March 1, and penalties for delinquency are imposed after that date. From March 1 to April 1, under the old law, it is the duty of the sheriff of each county to uncover delinquents and there is a penalty of $1 which is collected by the sheriff for every car found during that period without a new license tag. After April the law creating the state revenue department places the duty of uncovering delinquent automobile tag buyers and compelling compliance with the law. A penalty of 20 per cent of the tag license is imposed on delinquents uncovered by the revenue department, which amount goes for the support of the department.

Thus, automobile owners who do not get their 1925 tags by March 1 are subject to a penalty of $1 during March and an additional 20 per cent of the price of the tag after that date. On account of the need of the highway department for emergency funds for the repair of flood-damaged roads in south Georgia, automobile owners are urged to purchase tags as soon as possible. They also will avoid, by prompt action, the inconveniences of the last-minute rush.

HERIN WITNESSES 'FORGET' DETAILS

Today with the admission that he "left on high" when the shooting began. Every effort was made to make witnesses feel sure and to demonstrate to them that the hearing is an impartial attempt to get at the truth. Thomas Benton, foreman of the jury, addressed a number of the witnesses before they were sworn and urged them to tell their stories without fear. "Owing to the rumors that this may be a one-sided investigation which have been printed in the last few days," he told them, "I am not cramped in telling what you know. I want to say that this jury is here to get at the truth and it will not hesitate to protect any witness that appears before it."

"Furthermore, if any of you need protection we will see that you have it. On the other hand, we are just as ready to punish a witness that does not tell the truth and aid in reaching a verdict."

One of the significant things brought out by the announcement that the bullet taken from Young's back was a brass-jacketed .45 caliber slug, such as was used in Thomas' gun, was that the bullet, after penetrating the heart, went on through the body.

Other bullets found behind where Young had been standing were taken to be the bullets which had missed him. They were of the same type.

Evidence Is Meager

Meager as the evidence has been coming in, the defense attorneys, Thomas, it was illuminating when compared with that touching Homer Warren and Edward Forbes, the other victims of the shooting.

Warren, several witnesses agreed, must have been shot from above, but scarcely a word has been said indicating how Forbes came to his death.

The logical conclusion seems to be that he entered, either innocently or to help Young, and was hit by a stray bullet.

The question of who fired the mysterious shot earlier in the evening, which Young's friends maintained was a ruse to lure him into a trap, is unanswered. The shot struck a pillar in the center of a large concrete pillar in front of a drug store. It was the height of a man's head.

Judge E. N. Bowen testified that he saw a man who was fired from a little distance from Ross Lizenby, night policeman, near whom a flash was seen at the time, several witnesses agreed. Judge Bowen said that he saw a gun in Lizenby's hand.

Several former witnesses had stated that Lizenby dropped to the street at the shot and when he arose he was quivering with fear. He was putting a gun in his pocket. Witnesses today, however, were vague on this point.

Sleet and Snow, With Cold Rains Forecast Today

C. F. von Herrmann, in charge of the local office of the U. S. weather bureau, admitted Wednesday that one of the hardest things for a meteorologist to do is to make it snow in Atlanta.

His forecast for Thursday, however, still holds out hope to the younger generation and agriculturists who would be delighted to see a fleecy mantle of white bedeck the face of Mother Nature. "Rain, possibly snow or sleet, with a rising temperature," is his prediction for today.

Conditions for snow were ideal in Atlanta on Wednesday. But the snow didn't come. Mr. von Herrmann, scanning his reports from all parts of the country and closely examining his other maps for the day, had confidently predicted snow by Wednesday morning. But it didn't come.

And so, on Wednesday afternoon, he explained:

"The temperature Wednesday morning was two below zero at Louisville, Ky. It was eight above at Nashville, Tenn., and 18 above at Raleigh, N. C. There was sleet at Wilmington and rain at Savannah, Charleston, Augusta, Montgomery and Mobile. There was a low pressure area over the gulf and to the north of this section. Perfect conditions for snow. But it didn't come. All of which shows that when a weatherman predicts snow in this city he is taking awful chances with whatever reputation he may have. The only possible explanation lies in the fact that the low area over the gulf was a little bit too far south."

MAN BADLY CUT WHEN CARDASHES INTO PHONE POLE

K. M. Sweeney, 40, of 120 LaFayette drive, had a narrow escape from death early Thursday morning when he was driving towards the city on Peachtree street, near Thirteenth street, the car crashing into a telephone pole. Sweeney's right ear was severed almost and he otherwise was bruised and cut. The car was wrecked completely.

Sweeney said he was proceeding down the street when his car skidded into a telephone pole and that he crawled from the debris. He was taken to Grady hospital by Call Officers Barker and Hughes.

JOE L. WATSON DIES AT CHATTANOOGA HOME

Joe L. Watson, 44, well-known Chattanooga citizen and a member of the Strong Brothers' Drug company, died Tuesday night at his home after a long illness, according to dispatches reaching Atlanta Wednesday.

Mr. Watson married a former Atlanta girl, Miss Edna Jones. Mr. and Mrs. Tom E. Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Williams, of Atlanta are relatives. His widow and a small son, Hollis, survive him also. He was a Mason and a Shriner. Funeral services will be held there today.

EVIDENCE BARRED IN EDWARDS TRIAL

Tillman stood their ground and left the stand with their stories unshaken. P. D. Liddell, pharmacist at the Fairfield hospital, told the jury that on the day before Mrs. Edwards' murder, Dr. Edwards ordered him to prepare six capsules of a certain drug, each containing ten grains; that he asked the doctor if this was not a "pretty big dose," and that Edwards replied, "Good and fix 'em up." Liddell said that the words "For Cold—One tablet to be taken at a time," were inserted on the label after it left his dispensary. Solicitor Perry injected that the state will prove tomorrow that these words were written in by Edwards, and that he told his wife the tablets were "for her cold."

Miss Marguerite Colley, a nurse in the hospital, said the box of capsules were sent to her ward, marked "Special for Miss Davis," a patient, and that Dr. Edwards later told her he had decided not to administer them to Miss Davis and took them away, telling her he would return them to Liddell. Liddell had previously testified he did not get the capsules back until officers brought them to him for identification after having discovered them in the Edwards home.

JITNEY OPERATORS MERGE SYSTEMS

Merging of the Georgia Bus association, and the Atlanta jitney bus association, comprising the entire jitney system of Atlanta, into one organization to be known as the Atlanta Jitney Bus association, was effected at a meeting Wednesday night of jitney operators.

Following the resignation of Holt Gwiner as president of the Georgia Bus association and the subsequent decision of the operators to merge the two associations, Sam F. Schlesinger, president of the Atlanta Jitney Bus association, was unanimously elected to head the new organization.

Mr. Gwiner, in tendering his resignation, told the operators that "there is only one way that jitneys will remain on the streets of Atlanta, and that is through a consolidated firm, utilizing the resources of every man in both associations."

"We have called this meeting for a very important purpose, fully realizing that the 'meat and bread' of some 500 men depend upon the operation of jitneys in the city of Atlanta. I have decided to tender my resignation for the good of the cause, and I feel that if every jitney operator in the city of Atlanta will pull together they will easily win the present fight."

Committees were appointed at the meeting to use their efforts to improve jitney service on their respective lines.

The new president, Mr. Schlesinger, instructed the committees to notify drivers that should they be discharged from one line for carelessness or any fault detrimental to the service, they would not be employed by any other line in the city.

Discussions with reference to the cross-town jitney service were taken up at the meeting and it was stated that this service will be put into effect in the near future.

Reorganization of the new organization will be at 401 Peters building, it was announced.

VITAGRAPH WILL QUIT MOVIE ORGANIZATION

New York, January 28.—Vitagraph, Inc., the oldest motion picture company in existence, announced today through its president, Albert E. Smith, that on its 25th anniversary, next February 1, it would withdraw from the organization of which Will H. Hays is chief—the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.

The reason given in the notices for the company's secession follows in part:

"Vitagraph withdraws because it does not believe that justice to the distributors and to the public and to those independent producers, who are not theater-owning exhibitors, can be obtained through the labors of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America."

HERRIOT REPEATS FRANCE WILL PAY

credit. These sums have not increased our means of action, while the loan of $50,000,000 gold marks provided by the Dawes plan—to which I continue to think we have done well in subscribing—has given Germany fresh economic force."

Substance Is Diminished. "The money lent us prevented us from perishing, but our substance, is, nevertheless, diminished. I hope as much good will be brought to this problem as we ourselves are offering in it. France has always been true to her word. She will be again here as everywhere."

Claims Reduction Necessary. At the morning session, Louis Dubois, former president of the reparations commission, submitted a long list of figures relating to German reparements, and, treating the debt of France to the United States from what he termed "a business man's viewpoint," declared that the United States must make a considerable reduction in her claims against France.

M. Dubois based his arguments upon figures, the accuracy for which he vouched through the knowledge he had acquired while leading the reparations commission. He paid special attention to the recent speech of Senator Borah on the debt question, asserting that instead of the 20,000,000,000 gold marks ($26,500,000,000) which Senator Borah said France had received from Germany on reparations account, he (Dubois) had adduced the figures to show that Germany had paid last September had paid to all the allies, according to reparations commission figures, less than 8,500,000,000 gold marks, of which more than 5,000,000,000 were for occupation costs and coal advances under the Spa agreement. As for France's bill from Germany, he said:

"I bring you figures to show that France has received only 144,000,000 gold marks in cash and 1,733,000,000 gold marks in kind, including the Sarre mines, valued at 300,000,000 gold marks."

He could not believe, said M. Dubois, that America and England would demand from France nearly twice the amount which they themselves had determined France should receive from Germany under the Dawes plan which he placed roughly at 15,000,000,000 gold marks over a period of 37 years, while France's total debts to the United States and England, he computed at more than 27,000,000,000 gold marks, principal and interest.

"Confident in the safeguard guarantee of our allies, confident that Germany would fulfill her engagements," continued M. Dubois, "we have borrowed at home and abroad the money needed to repair our devastated regions. If we ourselves have to pay for the reparation of the devastated regions, which Germany under President Wilson's 14 points and the treaty of Versailles is bound to pay us, then we might as well revert to the basis of the armistice and the treaty of Versailles."

Premier Herriot spoke with great fervor and earnestness, and even his bitterest political opponents had to admit, after he had concluded his most fatiguing effort, that he was sincere. He stood the ordeal well, but from time to time had to rest his ailing leg, which had kept him in bed for a month, upon a little stool which had placed upon the speaker's tribune.

Several other questions occupied the premier's attention. With regard to the Russian question, he declared that the French government would not admit of any intervention in the internal politics of the country by foreigners.

"Zinovieff may as well make up his mind to that," he added amid applause from all quarters, except the communists.

Discusses Russian Loans

French loans were made to Russia to the amount of about 30 billion francs, by four million lenders, continued the premier. Much of these billions was spent on the Russian army, which by throwing itself on eastern Prussia in 1914, possibly saved Paris from capture by the Germans.

"That is one of the reasons why the French government renewed relations with Russia," he exclaimed.

Passing to the question of security, L. Herriot said:

"Our presence on the Rhine is an essential guarantee—the last guarantee of our security."

He drew a picture of Germany's armaments, which stirred the house to excitement, and said: "I have no hatred for the Germans, but I must say that disarmament will never come until German militarism is suppressed."

The entire chamber, with the exception of the communists, cheered this pronouncement loudly.

The Zepplin Zik-3, constructed by the Germans for the United States and piloted last fall from Germany to Lakehurst, N. J., M. Herriot recognized as a magnificent industrial and engineering feat but, he added, it had been exploited by the Germans as "a hymn of hate" against France.

"Here is how they write in Germany about it," said the premier: "French peasants in Loire and Gironde bowed their heads and bent their spines as they saw the symbol of future German force pass above them."

"And yet," exclaimed M. Herriot,

"we are asked not to insist upon the destruction of the Zepplin works under the treaty of Versailles."

Seeks Only Universal Peace. The premier concluded his address with the declaration that he was animated by only one purpose—"universal peace, the beginning of which is French security."

CONFEREES NAMED ON MUSCLE SHOALS

would have been named, but supporters of the bill objected to them because they opposed the measure when it was before the senate.

After Senators Norris, McNary and Smith had announced on the senate floor they would not serve as conferees if they were chosen, the senate adopted a motion by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, one of the Underwood bill opponents, naming them as conferees.

All three immediately declined to serve, and after a half dozen senators also had refused to represent the senate in conference, Senators Keyes, McKinley and Kendrick, who voted for the Underwood bill, were chosen.

Senator Keyes will be chairman of the senate conferees, who will meet in conference with Chairman McKellar, of the house military committee, Representatives Morin, Pennsylvania, and Quinn, Mississippi, ranking republican and democratic members of the committee.

Senator Underwood, democrat, Alabama, author of the bill had sought to have the senate name Senators Keyes, McKinley and Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, as conferees. Senator McKellar objected to the appointment of Senator Harrison and advanced the name of Senator Kendrick.

Afterwards Senator Underwood expressed satisfaction over the outcome and declared more than the majority of the conferees were favorable to the bill which he predicted "would pass" this session.

"My greatest desire is to see the dawn of the United States of Europe arise under the aegis of the League of Nations. I seek to work for the peace of Europe and the world, but as a basis for that peace, I seek the security of my country."

PETERS STREET WIDENING URGED

Committees to aid in securing the widening of Peters street were named Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the Peters Street Improvement association. One of these committees will wait on the mayor and finance committee of council, and the other will explain advantages to be derived from the development of the street.

"Peters street improvement seems to have been relegated to the background while the Madison street project has been pushed to the fore," A. L. Feldman, secretary and treasurer of the organization, declared Wednesday. "Our intention is that Peters street, which is more than a mile long, is the logical route from the heart of Atlanta to West End. It is unimpeded and is free of railroad crossings. It leads from the new Spring street viaduct.

A 70-foot boulevard, such as is contemplated in the Peters street improvement, will greatly relieve congested traffic conditions in the Atlanta business district and give easy and quick access to West End. We do not oppose the Madison street development, but feel that ours should take precedence."

Dr. A. L. Curtis is chairman of the committee to wait on the mayor and confer with the finance committee. R. M. Gann will act with him.

George West, president of Peters Street Improvement association, and A. L. Feldman, vice president, will present the advantages of the Peters street development.

Both committees will report at a meeting to be held Tuesday, Mr. Feldman stated.

Telephone Business Office moved to 67 Edgewood Avenue (Ground Floor, Hurt Building).

Senators Seeking To Expel Correspondents Who Reveal News of Executive Sessions

300 Newspaper Men at Capital Threaten To Disregard Censorship Measure If It Is Passed.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, January 28.—Angered by leaks to newspapers from recent secret sessions of the senate over the appointment of Attorney General Stone to the supreme court, several senators are seeking to expel from the press gallery correspondents of papers printing such accounts of future closed sessions.

Although suggestions that this ought to be done have been made in the cloakrooms and lobbies for several days, the first definite move came Wednesday. Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, republican, handed to Senator Curtis, of Kansas, chairman of the rules committee and majority leader of the senate, a rough draft of a resolution which would exclude offending correspondents from the press galleries for a punitive period as punishment for printing facts regarding secret sessions of the senate.

Threaten To Disregard Action. Senator Curtis said that he would bring the resolution before the senate rules committee. He is not certain whether the rules committee will recommend its adoption. But it is known that a number of senators are indignant at what they term an affront to the dignity of the senate by newspaper correspondents who have obtained and printed the facts about the row over the Stone appointment.

This move caused much comment among the 300 newspaper correspondents here, and the opinion was generally expressed that should the senate adopt such a censorship measure, it would be disregarded.

Already considerable opposition has developed among the senators themselves. One member of the rules committee, Hiram Johnson, when he learned of the Reed resolution, said, "It is too ludicrous for serious comment."

"It will never reach first base," Norris, of Nebraska, said.

Disregard Own Rule.

One feature of the situation commented upon is the failure of senators themselves to observe their own rule, which prohibits them, under heavy penalties, from disclosing the proceedings of secret sessions.

All of the dispatches objected to are based on facts obtained from senators themselves. Some senators are always willing to disclose what happens in secret session. The late Senator Penrose once said that whenever he particularly wanted anything to get into the newspapers, he brought it up in secret session, for then he would be sure of its getting out.

Last Attempt in 1912.

The last attempt to suppress newspaper accounts of executive sessions was made in 1912 when Senator Hayburn, of Idaho, offered a resolution similar to that drawn up by Reed. It was referred to committee and buried there.

When the senate recently discussed the Stone case in secret session, the United News reported all of the facts regarding the debate. The facts disclosed in this debate were regarded as of such significance that the senate referred the nomination back to the judiciary committee, bringing about the direct questioning of Stone by the senators Wednesday. The facts of the executive session were given freely to the United News by senators who understood they would be printed.

JOHN MCCORMACK WILL SING HERE ON NEXT TUESDAY

John McCormack, internationally known tenor, will be heard in concert in this city on Tuesday, Jan. 29. Atlanta Music club officials state much enthusiasm is evidenced not alone by the musical element, but by all who have heard McCormack on his former visits to Atlanta.

One of the leading musical critics of Paris, reviewing the concert given in the Theatre des Champs-Elysees, when the house was packed from pit to dome, said: "To speak of the enthusiasm of the audience, their insistent calls for encores and the artist's generous compliance, is to speak of what everybody knows, and is to remark upon what happens at all recitals given by the noted singer." Tickets will be on sale Friday at the Cable Piano company.

UNDERWRITERS NAME POWELL PRESIDENT

Walter Powell, of the Atlanta branch Volunteer State Life Insurance company, Wednesday was elected president of the Underwriters' club of Atlanta.

WALTER POWELL.

The honor is one of the greatest in the power of the local association to bestow, since the office goes to the member of the club writing the largest amount of insurance the previous year. The election is a formality only.

Other officers named are Luther E. Allen, of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, vice president; and W. F. Helm, of the Guardian Life Insurance company, secretary and treasurer.

Friends of Mr. Powell Wednesday were congratulating him on his success in the insurance field, since his entry into the business here in the fall of 1922.

Mr. Powell was born in Wisconsin, and is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He was picked as all-western football center in 1912. In 1917-19 he worked as assistant to Walter Camp in direction of army and navy athletics. He is a former head coach of Montana state college and of Leland Stanford university, and is the youngest man ever selected as a member of the football rules committee.

Mr. Powell is regarded as one of the most efficient football officials in the southeast, and is booked to officiate at games every week of the season. He was an official in many of the Georgia Tech games last season.

ALLEGED GANGSTER GIVES $72,500 BOND

Chicago, January 28.—Louis Altieri, pal of Dion O'Banion, slain gunman, liquor runner and florist, returned here today from Colorado, and in a rush through three courts gave a total of $72,500 bonds to gain freedom until February 17, when he will answer federal charges.

Meanwhile, Johnny Torrio, who was mysteriously shot by gangsters, remained in a critical condition in a hospital under guard of friends, police and physicians. Altieri is charged with being an accessory of Torrio in a raid on a brewery.

During the court proceedings relating to gangsters and gunmen, police concentrated in a crime drive, arresting three men and three women and obtained confessions telling of a dozen hold-ups.

A coroner's jury recommended the arrest of two other men in connection with the death of a policeman. During the drive, Mrs. William Fleischmann reported loss of $2,500 in money, jewels and furs as a result of a robbery in her home.

Stop Night Coughing This Simple Way
People who have persistent, annoying coughing spells at night, and who through loss of valuable sleep are weakening their systems and laying themselves open to dangerous infections, can stop their distressing trouble promptly by a very simple treatment. Hundreds who have hardly been able to rest at all for coughing, have gotten their full night's sleep the very first time they tried it.

The treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take a teaspoonful at night before retiring and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The result is that you usually sleep as soundly as a babe the very first night, and the entire cough condition goes in a very short time.

The prescription is highly recommended for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness and bronchitis, and is wonderful for children's coughs and spasmodic croup—no harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. It is on sale at all good druggists. Ask for

NEWSPAPER RATES VOTED UPON TODAY

Washington, D. C., January 28.—(Special.)—The fight in the senate over the postal salaries and rate increases, bill will come to a climax Thursday, when an amendment by Senator George of Georgia, lowering rates on newspapers, will be the center of attention. A vote on the amendment is expected Thursday.

While the amendment is opposed by Senator Moses of New Hampshire, sponsor of the compromise postal salaries bill, as well as some other advocates of the measure, it appears that it will pass the senate when the vote is taken.

The amendment is opposed mainly on the ground that it will decrease revenues, and thus prevent the measure from meeting the needs in postal salaries which are provided.

Senator George contends, on the other hand, that the cut in these rates will increase revenues above their present level by bringing additional business.

Restores 1920 Rates.

Adoption of Senator George's amendment would put rates on newspapers back on the basis of 1920. That would make them one-half of one cent lower than now, and about 50 per cent lower than those proposed in the bill now before the senate.

In presenting his amendment to the senate, the Georgia senator contended that present high rates on newspapers had driven them out of the mails.

He declared that it was "the undisputed testimony before the committee that of all the big metropolitan evening dailies, only about 2 or 2 1/2 per cent of their entire circulation finds itself in the mails, and of the morning newspapers only between 8 and 10 per cent of their circulation finds itself in the mails," and therefore, he said, "it must be accepted as true that the rates imposed and now in effect have driven second-class mail out of the mails."

Fall Heavy on Papers.

Senator George declared that the increased rates would fall very heavily upon all newspapers, particularly upon small papers, many of them in the south. Of the thousands of newspapers in the country, he said that only 10 or 12 can stand an increase in rates.

The senator expressed his belief "that a return to the rates of 1920 on second-class mail matter will result in a natural increase of revenue from that class of mails, and that is borne out by the fact that 900,000,000 pieces of second-class mail have gone out of the mails since additional increases were imposed."

Helps Small Papers.

"There is a class of papers in the United States," he said, "the small daily and weekly press of America, which carries the government back to the man on whom the government ultimately depends—that is, the man in the back country. They cannot assist if you increase the rates. If we go back to a sane rate basis, such as was in effect in 1920, when on the volume handled by the post office we derived revenue in comparison with the volume, we will invite into the mail that large volume of second-class matter which is now traveling in whole or part outside of the mails, and the result will be a net increase in our postal revenues."

Parents Are Urged By School Heads To Have Patience

A plea to parents of students in Atlanta schools, whose children recently have been transferred from one school to another, to have patience and assist the school department as much as possible, was voiced Wednesday by Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, and M. E. Coleman, director of census and attendance.

A number of transfers will be necessary next semester in order to cut down the number of teachers and to slash operating expenses, it is stated. A number of children will be moved from their present schools to schools in which all classes are not filled. The result of the announcement has been a storm of protest from parents of children who have been moved to schools further from their homes than the ones which they attended previously.

Some of the children have attended the same school for several years, Mr. Coleman explained, and it is from those that the largest number of protests have been received. Parents of children transferred from the Stewart avenue and Tenth street schools head the list of objectors.

Several teachers will be cut from the rolls as a result of the consolidation of classes, school officials explained, and further economies will be effected in operating expenses.

Atlanta May Get Casualty Company Executive Offices

Macon, Ga., January 28.—(Special.)—Stockholders of the Georgia Casualty company at their meeting here today voted to amend the charter so as to permit the home offices of the company to be removed from this city to Atlanta whenever the officers see fit to do so. W. E. Small, president of the company, stated no immediate removal is contemplated.

Officers elected by the board of directors are: W. E. Small, president; Will Gunn, Dr. J. C. McAfee, Jesse B. Hart and T. B. McRitchie, vice presidents, and J. O. Morton, secretary and treasurer.

The report of the secretary and treasurer showed that the company, founded here 16 years ago, has a surplus and reserve of $2,922,401.00, with deposits in the insurance department of Georgia of $225,000, cash on hand $306,477.57, assets $3,251,719.96.

This company moved its operative offices to Atlanta from Macon several months ago.

ATTORNEY FOR FORBES CLOSES DEFENSE CASE

Chicago, January 28.—Defense argument was completed in the veterans' conspiracy trial today with a final appeal by Elwood Godman, associate counsel for former Director Charles R. Forbes, for an acquittal. Assistant Attorney General John W. H. Crim, in charge of the prosecution, likely will complete the closing argument for the government in the morning session tomorrow. Instructions to the jury will require approximately an hour and the deliberations of the jurors probably will begin late in the afternoon.

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO ASSASSINATE ADMIRAL HORTHY

Budapest, January 28.—An attempt was made Wednesday to assassinate Admiral Horthy, regent of Hungary. An unknown man fired a revolver at the regent as he sat in a railway train at a country station near here. Horthy was uninjured. His assailant escaped.

COUPLE JUMP BOND IN TEACHER CASE

Moultrie, Ga., January 28.—(Special.)—Officers in all of the points on the main roads into Florida have been asked to join in the search for Mrs. Cora Lee Giles and her brother, McKinley Croft, who, just before they were scheduled to go on trial in superior court here this afternoon, charged with an attack on Mrs. Frank Myers, principal, and Miss Alice Raiford, assistant principal, of the Berlin school, jumped cash bonds in the sum of $2,500 each and fled from Moultrie.

Judge W. E. Thomas forfeited the bonds, issued bench warrants for Mrs. Giles and Croft and ordered they be held in jail in case of their arrest.

Earlier today the accused brother and sister had sought to get their case postponed until April, claiming that their two chief attorneys were too ill to appear in court. Judge Thomas overruled the motion, but granted the third lawyer employed in the case an hour to set the time for the beginning of the trial immediately after the noon recess.

It was then that it was learned that Mrs. Giles and her brother had left Moultrie in an automobile in the direction of the Florida line.

It is charged that Mrs. Giles, accompanied by her brother, McKinley Croft, went to the Berlin school Monday, and after announcing her intention "to whip" Mrs. Myers and Miss Raiford, because of what she termed a cruel whipping given to her 12-year-old brother last Friday, proceeded to carry out the threat.

McKinley prevented anyone from the prosecution, and Mrs. Giles launched the assault.

The incident created a sensation in Berlin and throughout that section of the county, and Wednesday a huge crowd came to Moultrie to watch the court proceedings.

POTENTATE BOWEN HONORS SHRINERS AT DINNER PARTY

Potentate Charles A. Bowen was host Wednesday night to other high officers, members of the divan, five committee chairmen and the five uniform organizations within Yaarab temple at a banquet at the Atlanta-Biltmore hotel. About 200 Shriners were present.

Among the uniformed units honored were the band, the patrol, the Oriental band, the Chanters and the degree staff. Special musical numbers were presented under the direction of Enrico Leide. The dinner was served in the Georgian ballroom.

Money Back Says Jacobs' Pharmacy Co. If One Bottle of Allenru Doesn't Make Any Rheumatic Sufferer Rejoice.

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Jacobs' Pharmacy Co. and every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if ALLENRU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Allenru relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes street, Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of ALLENRU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed Jacobs' Pharmacy Co. and druggists every where to guarantee it as above in every instance. If you live out of town ask him to send you full particulars.—(adv.)

FIRE FORCE NAMED FOR NEW STATION

A captain and two lieutenants in the Atlanta fire department, in addition to 10 new firemen, Wednesday were elected by the fire committee of city council to provide the force necessary for fire engine house No. 19, now under construction at Highland and Los Angeles avenues.

Lieutenant J. L. Peel, now on duty at station house No. 15, was promoted to captain by the board's action, and will be placed in charge of the new station as soon as it is completed. In nominating him for the post, Fire Chief W. B. Cody stated that he is one of the oldest lieutenants in the department in point of service, is a fine fireman, and is well qualified for the position from all viewpoints. Although four other lieutenants were nominated Lieutenant Peel's election was unanimous.

C. C. Helms and F. E. King, now firemen, were named lieutenants and one will take the place vacated by Lieutenant Peel, at station 15, while the other will be assigned to the new engine house. Election of both lieutenants also was unanimous. At present, Helms is stationed at station No. 4, while King is signal operator.

The following were elected members of the department, subject to the required examination: O. A. Blair, W. Medlin, C. C. McGhee, Troy Turner, N. E. Pittman, Jr., Thomas J. Akew, R. G. Owensby, S. G. Cooper, R. Rufus Varnedoe, and H. G. Gamel.

Of that number five will be regulars and the remainder substitutes. Two will be used to replace the two firemen promoted to lieutenants, while the other three will be assigned to the new station.

None of the changes will be effective until June 1, when it is expected the new engine house will be ready to be placed in operation. The station, which was built with money appropriated by both the city and county, will serve the Highland-Virginia avenue section.

Among the uniformed units honored were the band, the patrol, the Oriental band, the Chanters and the degree staff. Special musical numbers were presented under the direction of Enrico Leide. The dinner was served in the Georgian ballroom.

Morris Is Freed Under Big Bond In Dolvin's Death

A. M. Morris, 25, Capitol View Presbyterian church deacon and driver of the automobile that struck down and fatally injured Alderman Carl Dolvin last Monday night, was freed Wednesday night on $5,000 bond. The charge of murder was changed to that of manslaughter and bond was allowed by Acting Chief of Police E. L. Jett.

Morris was highly nervous and paced his cell floor Tuesday night and Wednesday, following his surrender Tuesday morning. His pastor, Rev. R. P. Claman, accompanied by Capitol View church members and others, visited him during Wednesday.

Alderman Dolvin late representative of the tenth ward, was laid to rest Wednesday afternoon in West View cemetery. Funeral services were held from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Rev. A. C. Hendley officiated.

Flags At Half-Mast. All business at the city hall ceased in the afternoon out of respect to the late alderman. Flags on all city buildings were lowered to half-mast.

Dolvin is survived by his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Guy Torrance; two brothers, Oliver Dolvin, of Atlanta, and Paul Dolvin, of St. Louis, and a sister, Mrs. E. A. Willis, of Stone Mountain.

Morris remained at the door of his cell almost continuously since he voluntarily surrendered himself Tuesday morning, and the turkey at the stationhouse stated that he had made only one pretense of eating.

With reference to statement of witnesses that he was driving 35 miles an hour at the time of the accident, Morris said:

"I can't believe I was going that fast. Friends who have driven with me say I was never reckless, and 35 miles an hour is a terrific speed."

Morris came to police station Tuesday morning with Councilman W. Garland Cooper, whose son, Garland, Jr., is in custody with C. B. Thurman, was with Morris at the time of the accident.

Clarence Cooper brought his brother and Thurman to police station shortly afterwards. They were charged with disorderly conduct and released under $500 bonds.

The accident occurred when Mr. Dolvin, stepping from his car on the left side as he stopped in front of his home at 173 1/2 Bell avenue, was struck down by the machine driven by Morris, according to Morris' statement.

Morris' car did not stop. Mr. Dolvin died at Grady hospital shortly afterwards, where he was taken by a passing motorist.

Morris was rendering himself Tuesday morning. Morris explained his action by saying:

"The shock of the whole thing just robbed me of all power of reasoning. It was the natural instinct to flee from danger and punishment."

"With the return of reason I did the only possible thing open to an honorable citizen. I surrendered myself and made a complete confession."

Preliminary trial in recorder's court is fixed for February 3 at 2:30 o'clock.

Oratorical Contest Value To High School Students Pointed Out by Director

National Director Leigh Gives Advice in Letter to Constitution, State Contest Sponsor.

Emphasizing the value of the national oratorical contest which is being sponsored by Georgia by The Constitution, the State High School association and the American Bar association, Randolph Leigh, national director, in a message to prospective high school contestants stresses the importance of making sure that orations to be delivered do not exceed the 10-minute limit placed by the regulations.

"It is not enough," says Mr. Leigh, "to have an oration which can come times delivered within the specified limit. It must be one that can be kept within that limit whenever you are in competition. The only way to be certain on this point is to give yourself a safe margin, say 20 or 30 seconds. Remember that your speech will lose its effect if you appear to hurry through it, and you will invariably hurry in the crucial tests if you are not absolutely positive that you have time enough."

The oratorical contest, which has attracted statewide interest, is open to all bona fide Georgia high school students, boys or girls, who will not be over 19 years of age on February 1 next. Orations may be prepared on any one of eight given subjects, but they must be original and must, as noted above, be held within a time limit of ten minutes.

14 Prizes Offered.
The Constitution is offering 14 prizes for the winners in the state contest, who also will be eligible to compete in the national contest, where

NEW COLD AND FLU TREATMENT IS SUCCESSFUL

Secret Formula Has Super-Power For Killing Cold, Grippe and Flu Germs. Immediately Absorbed by the System, Quickly Relieves Pain, Reduces Fever and Prevents Serious Complications.

This Formula, Known as "Vick's Grippe Remedy", (Liquid) Now Available at All Drug Stores. A Few Doses Stops Any Case of Cold, Grippe or Flu.

The after-dinner from colds, grippe or flu is to be feared more than the disease itself, leaving as it does a weakened bronchial tract that is susceptible to serious bronchial or pulmonary breakdown. This new discovery, Vick's Grippe Remedy (liquid), not only stops the cold, grippe or flu, but minimizes the possibility of a weakened system afterwards.

No matter how severe the cold, how painful the grippe, how aggravating the flu or how febrile you feel, a few doses of Vick's Grippe Remedy (liquid) will bring almost instant relief.

Aside from being a new formula, in liquid form, the system immediately absorbs it, and the very first dose relieves grippiness aches and brings a warm, comfortable glow all over the body.

Vick's Grippe Remedy contains a slight laxative, so necessary in treating colds, grippe or flu, but does not contain quinine, so it can be taken while attending to work, indoors or out-of-doors, with no danger of taking a fresh cold. Your druggist can get Vick's Grippe Remedy for you and will refund your money if it fails to satisfy. Vick Medicine Co., Dept. 11, Albany, Ga.—(adv.)

Mercer Alumni Inaugurate Campaign For $200,000 Memorial Building

Proposed building to be located on Mercer university campus at cost of $200,000, in memory of Mercer students who fought in civil and world wars.

Mercer alumni in Atlanta will gather tonight in the breakfast room of the Kimball house at 7 o'clock for a banquet at which time members will launch the Mercer Alumni Memorial campaign in this city.

The alumni of the university have united to raise $200,000 with which to erect a memorial building on the campus in honor of the men who died in the civil and world wars. The campaign has been organized by John R. Williams, secretary of the alumni association, in co-operation with Hugh M. Willet of Atlanta, president of the association; George H. Craswell, national chairman of the campaign; Louis D. Newton, of Atlanta, director of publicity; Dr. Rufus W. Weaver, of Macon, president of the university; and other prominent alumni of the institution.

The campaign will be formally launched February 3, continuing through February 10. During that week it is planned to reach every section of the south with meetings of Mercer alumni.

Atlanta has been asked to raise $25,000 in this campaign and at the meeting tonight at the Kimball house the committees are hoping to make substantial headway on this quota. It is understood that several subscriptions of $1,000 each will be announced at the beginning of the meeting.

Frank Hooper, Sr., well known attorney of Atlanta, will preside at the banquet. Former Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, John H. Hudson, John L. Westmoreland, Judge George Hillier, Hugh M. Willet, Louis D. Newton, President Rufus W. Weaver, W. B. Stovall and other well known local alumni will speak. It is expected that Dr. J. F. Sellers, now dean of Oglethorpe university, and for a number of years dean of Mercer, will be present and will speak.

The campaign will be pursued in Atlanta until the quota is reached.

Other Cities Join.

Macon, Savannah, Augusta and other large cities of the state are holding meetings tonight and tomorrow night in anticipation of the big drive next week. It is the hope of the committee to go over the top for the entire state by the end of next week.

The money will be expended on a building which will be used for physical education and for a central auditorium for the university. The auditorium will seat 4,000 people and will afford a standard basketball court with fifteen class rooms, a locker system caring for a thousand students, a swimming pool and other modern conveniences.

Railway Conductors' Order Officials To Arrive Today

Scores of delegates are expected to begin arriving at Atlanta tonight for the annual class initiation ceremonies of the Order of Railway Conductors to be held here Sunday. High officials both of the conductors' order and the Ladies' auxiliary are expected to reach the city late tonight, while practically every train during Friday and Saturday will bring delegates from every section of the nation.

Local officials of the Atlanta chapters of the order and auxiliary have arranged an elaborate entertainment program and are laying plans to influence delegates who attend the initiation to support Atlanta's bid for the triennial convention of the order in 1925.

The Atlanta Convention and Tourist bureau officials are cooperating with others here for the big initiation on Sunday at 12 o'clock in the auditorium, the first ceremony of its kind ever held in the south.

L. E. Sheppard, national president, and wife, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Mrs. Agnes M. Whalen, of Oklahoma City, grand vice president; Mrs. G. F. Coleman, of St. Louis; Mrs. Ida L. Stridger and Mrs. J. M. Sewell, of Chicago, grand officers of the Ladies' auxiliary, O. R. C., will arrive in Atlanta Saturday evening on the Dixie Flyer. Delegates and visitors from Chicago, St. Louis, Evansville, Nashville and other points in the north and west will be on this train.

Initiation on Sunday.
A special sleeper from Columbus, Ohio, with delegates from that city and section will arrive over the L. and N. at noon Saturday. Mrs. J. H. Moore, grand president of the Ladies' auxiliary, will arrive on this train. All trains reaching Atlanta throughout the day and night Saturday are expected to bring delegates to witness the initiation of 1923.

This will be the largest class ever initiated into the order and the first one ever initiated in the south, according to officials.

The initiation work, which takes place at the city auditorium on Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock, will be put on by the famous Woodlawn degree team, of Chicago, which is coming to Atlanta on a special train with all paraphernalia necessary to the proper initiation of the candidates, including "Jerry," their own live goat.

The local entertainment committee, headed by C. D. Knight, will meet all delegates at trains and escort them to their hotels. The Kimball house will be official headquarters.

Saturday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock and continuing until midnight, divisions 180 and 457 will entertain members and their wives at dance at the Ansley root garden. At 9 o'clock Sunday morning, the local committee has arranged to have automobiles at the Peachtree street entrance of the Kimball house to take the visitors on a trip around the city, including a trip to Stone Mountain. Returning from the mountain, all delegates will assemble on the state capitol steps for the official photograph.

Ladies to Initiate.
The Ladies' auxiliary holds its class initiation at 1 o'clock Sunday at the Red Men's wigwam, 80 Central avenue.

At 4 o'clock Sunday the open session of the convention will assemble at the city auditorium. Governor Clifford Walker, Mayor Walter A. Sims, President L. E. Sheppard, Mrs. J. H. Moore, grand president of the Ladies' auxiliary, and leading railroad officials will address this meeting.

Sunday at noon visiting ladies will be tendered a luncheon by the local committee.

Sunday evening, at 7 o'clock, the convention banquet will be served at the roof garden of the Ansley hotel. Atlanta and southern members of the order have been working with the Atlanta Convention and Tourist bureau to bring the national convention of O. R. C. to Atlanta in 1925.

The entire order gets together only once every three years, and is usually in session more than 20 days. The triennial convention is composed of more than 800 delegates and officers, and the Ladies' auxiliary, which meets at the same time and place, usually brings about 300 delegates. The national convention has not met in Atlanta since 1895. Since that time the organization has more than doubled its membership, having now some 60,000 members in the United States and Canada, and prolonged its convention sessions several days.

H. W. Bibb, of St. Louis, one of the deputy presidents, is an enthusiastic supporter of Atlanta for the 1925 convention. Speaking of this city as a possible convention city, he said: "Your city auditorium added to the genuine southern hospitality of your citizens, should encourage you, with pride, to invite any organization to bring its convention to your city. And I am confident that our members who attend the Atlanta class initiation on February 1 will take away with them a cherished hope that March 1925 will find them in attendance at our triennial convention in Atlanta."

COASTAL HIGHWAY PLAN GETS EARLY ATTENTION

John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway board, announced Wednesday that the chief business before the board when it meets at the East Point office February 6, would be consideration of plans for the financing of the proposed Georgia coastal highway.

At a meeting of the coastal highway commission last week in Savannah, it was proposed that six counties comprising the coastal highway district issue bonds for $650,000, as one-fourth of the cost of $2,600,000 for construction of the highway. The state highway commission, under this plan, would match this sum with a like amount from state funds and the remaining half would be supplied from federal funds, all to be expended during the period of five years it will take to construct the highway.

The state board members have not yet made any definite statement regarding their attitude toward this proposal.

Mr. Holder, who ended a tour of inspection over the flooded region in south Georgia Tuesday night, stated that the Darien road is still closed, but that the causeway can be readily repaired, none of it having been swept away. Cost of the flood damage to roads in the Savannah district he estimated at $10,000 from the emergency funds of the department, and at least half as much more from counties in the section.

No action was taken in regard to the new anti-tuberculosis sanitarium at Alto, that being in the hands of a special committee and already fully authorized to act.

Print This Good News About Joint-Ease Writes Eastern Druggist

"Joint-Ease is selling like hot cakes in my store because it is a wonderful and speedy remedy for all joint troubles."

"But why not impress on tens of thousands of suffering people some of the things that dozens of my customers tell me almost daily."

"Some say that it knocks out lumbago over night—others assert that for chest colds and sore throat it has no equal, while many insist that there is nothing they ever tried that is so efficient for neuralgia, neuritis and even head colds and nasal catarrh."

Answering the above letter, we, the makers of Joint-Ease, know that what this thriving New Jersey druggist says is true, but we still maintain that Joint-Ease is prepared for stiff, inflamed, painful, swollen joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, fingers or spine.

You'll like just one minute's rubbing, it soaks in through the flesh direct to the ailing bones and ligaments—that's why it succeeds—for when Joint-Ease gets in joint misery gets out—And without any waste of time all swelling and congestion disappears. Denishawn Dancers Appear At Auditorium Tonight

Ruth St. Denis, Ted Shawn and the Denishawn dancers, a company of 30, will present a new program of ballets, "divertissements" and other dances at the auditorium tonight, the program beginning at 8:30 o'clock. Indications are that the famous stars and associates will be greeted by a capacity audience.

The company will arrive early in the afternoon and several hours will be employed in equipping the auditorium stage, for the settings and electrical effects used by the Denishawn dancers are unusually elaborate. A special force of stage hands, electricians and technicians, and the company orchestra accompany the dancers.

Atlanta has been noted for years for its interest in stage dancing, and there are several successful schools conducted here. Each of these has taken a large block of seats. Students of a number of colleges in Atlanta and the nearby towns also will add large groups of spectators.

Ruth St. Denis is appearing in person in many dance divertissements, besides playing the leading role in the three regular ballet numbers. Ted Shawn also will make numerous appearances, as will Doris Humphrey, said to be the most beautiful dancer now before the public.

Russell Bridges, in charge of the local engagement, urges patrons to arrive early, as late arrivals will not be seated until the close of the first group. The ticket sale will be transferred at 6 o'clock from the Phillips & Crew store to the auditorium box office.

Keeping Faith

When a man makes a will, he is keeping faith with his family and those dependent on him, because in this way he can leave instructions for the division of his property according to the needs of each of his heirs. If there is no will, the law will guide this division without regard to the personal needs of heirs.

When a man in his will appoints The Citizens and Southern as Executor and Trustee, he is keeping faith because this insures that his wishes will be carried out efficiently.

Gloria Swanson Is Married To Genuine French Marquis

MOVIE STAR BECOMES BRIDE OF HER INTERPRETER
To Genuine French Marquis

Paris, January 28.—Gloria Swanson has become the Marchioness de La Falaise de La Courade, and it is not a movie title either. The American star and the marquis were married in the city hall Wednesday with a few friends as guests and witnesses.

The romance began shortly after Gloria arrived here and met the marquis, who had been engaged as an "interpreter" to assist her in Paris and on "location" Gloria's new husband is wealthy. His mother was a daughter of one of the Irish Hennesseys, famed for their "Three Star" whisky. His grandmother was a British peeress. The families of La Falaise and Courade are among the heritages from the golden age of French monarchy.

Gloria, the best-dressed woman in the movies, was married in a fawn travelling gown, and carried a bunch of purple orchids.

"How does it feel to be a real marchioness?" she was asked.

"Rank isn't everything," Gloria replied.

The marchioness and marquis will end their honeymoon Thursday, when the bride will become Gloria again and finish her film work. She expects to sail for the United States February 11.

Stone Mt. 'Road Of Remembrance' Plan Is Offered

Before forestry chairmen of various women's clubs called together Wednesday afternoon to meet him at the Atlanta Woman's club, Russell T. Edwards, director of the educa-national section of the American Tree association, urged the planting of a Road of Remembrance from Atlanta to Stone Mountain. Edwards came to Atlanta from Washington, D. C., on a tour of the south, where he has been speaking before women's clubs and chambers of commerce on the importance of tree planting and reforestation.

Edwards goes from here to Rome, Ga., and then to Jacksonville, Fla. He will return to Atlanta February 5 for tree-planting day, when he will take part in planting trees in front of the woman's club building. A luncheon will be given him at that time by the clubwomen.

"What finer thing than a Road of Remembrance to Stone Mountain?" said Edwards in his talk yesterday. "In the planting of such a highway you would provide a beautiful approach to this remarkable memorial. I do not believe the people of Georgia realize the tremendous amount of publicity that memorial has been getting in the northern states."

Would Bring Tourists Here.

"If you can get the people of your city and state to plant such a Road of Remembrance you will have something that tourists will go miles out of their way to see. We want to welcome you to membership in the tree-planting army. In this association of tree planters, of which Charles Lathrop Pack is the president, there are no dues and the only way to join is to plant a tree and register it with us at Washington. Mr. Pack will send you tree-planting instruction and a tree-day program. When the tree or trees are planted you will get a certificate of membership as a good citizen in the American Tree association."

"We want to see a big registration in the tree-planting army from Georgia. In Atlanta a great educational work has been done through Miss Hattie Rainwater in the tree-planting campaign that was conducted in the public schools and throughout the state. What the school children of this state did we are using in our nationwide campaign throughout the country to interest new thousands in tree planting. Professor Sutton is also to be congratulated on his keen interest in this work. When you plant your peach trees on February 5 new members will be given the wood."

Edwards also went into the various phases of the educational work being carried on by the American Tree association for a national protection for farm products.

As a step toward putting into law recommendations of the commission, Representative Williams, republican, Michigan, reintroduced his cooperative marketing bill after eliminating from the original measure, known as the Capper-Williams bill, provisions not recommended by the president's commission. He expressed the belief that his proposal carried out practically all the commission's suggestions.

Fall River Textile Strike Is Settled

Fall River, Mass., January 28.—A strike of 100 fine goods weavers employed at Davel mill No. 4, which began two weeks ago when a wage reduction of 10 per cent became effective in textile plants of the area, was settled today. The weavers will return to work tomorrow morning and will not be subject to the wage reduction. The weavers of the Fine Manufacturing company and of Granite mill No. 3, who also declared strikes, are still out.

Mrs. Gray Speaks.

After the meeting yesterday Mrs. B. D. Gray, of College Park, who is the forestry chairman of the fifth district, told Edwards of the plans the clubs have under way. Others present who made application for membership in the tree-planting army and to whom the association's data will be sent were: Mrs. J. R. Little, 2010 Peachtree road; Mrs. Carl Davis, 87 Peachtree place; Miss Hattie Rainwater, 52 West Peachtree street; Mrs. G. H. Collins, 84 Columbia avenue; Mrs. J. M. Wild Geese Retrace Flight Toward South

Admits Clubbing Victim To Death

Camden, Ark., January 28.—Startling evidence in connection with the murder of W. N. Tedder, 53, a merchant at Oganaw, Ark., on the night of January 18, was disclosed today with the arrest of Dee Handwork, 18, who, according to officials, has confessed to clubbing the man to death with a stick of stove wood. The man was found dead in his store and apparently was murdered while he slept.

Handwork was arrested by officers in the woods near his home and where he had been hiding.

In a signed confession he is said to have made to authorities, Handwork implicated the widow of the dead man in the killing. Mrs. Tedder was arrested last night following Handwork's confession and is held in jail at Camden.

According to the confession, Handwork said he waited near the Tedder store on the night of the killing for a signal from Mrs. Tedder that her husband was asleep. He charged the woman with having given her husband a sleeping potion and when he received the signal he took a piece of stove wood from a pile in the yard, entered the room in which the storekeeper was sleeping and struck him three times on the head, fracturing his skull.

It is understood Handwork had been counting the 14-year-old daughter of the Tedders and the father objected to his attentions. Mrs. Tedder, it is said, was beneficiary of a $2,000 life insurance policy the storekeeper carried.

The relations between the Tedders had not been congenial for some time, it was said.

Mrs. Tedder, it was said by officials, had been abusing the youth and had sent money to him to enable him to leave the vicinity.

Quick Action Urged Upon Farm Measure

Washington, January 28.—The legislative recommendations of the agricultural commission were transmitted today to congress today by President Coolidge with a request for their enactment "at the earliest possible date."

In a brief message sent to both houses, the president not only urged prompt action, but took occasion to express confidence in the commission and the tremendous amount of publicity that memorial has been getting in the northern states.

No Draft of Legislation to Carry out the recommendations accompanied the report, and it was indicated that this task would be left to the house and senate agricultural committees.

Chairman Hays has called a meeting of the house committee Saturday to canvass the situation, and it is regarded as likely the senate committee also will "re-examine its procedure before the week-end. There are indications that the two committees to expedite consideration of legislation.

Administration leaders in both houses said they were confident congressional action could be completed before March 4 adjournment, but Chairman Green, of the house ways and means committee, said he thought it improbable that anything could be done at this session toward complying with the general recommendation for better tariff protection for farm products.

As a step toward putting into law recommendations of the commission, Representative Williams, republican, Michigan, reintroduced his cooperative marketing bill after eliminating from the original measure, known as the Capper-Williams bill, provisions not recommended by the president's commission. He expressed the belief that his proposal carried out practically all the commission's suggestions.

Fall River Textile Strike Is Settled

Fall River, Mass., January 28.—A strike of 100 fine goods weavers employed at Davel mill No. 4, which began two weeks ago when a wage reduction of 10 per cent became effective in textile plants of the area, was settled today. The weavers will return to work tomorrow morning and will not be subject to the wage reduction. The weavers of the Fine Manufacturing company and of Granite mill No. 3, who also declared strikes, are still out.

Bucky Meets Giant Boss As Rookie and Opponent

This is the nineteenth installment of the autobiography of Stanley Harris, youngest major league baseball manager in the history of the game, and the victorious strategist and one of the outstanding players in the 1924 world series, in which his Washington club won the pennant for the first time. The rise of Harris from colliery boy to big league manager in eight years is one of the most remarkable life stories America has ever produced.

Mother put up a brave front when I enlisted for military camp. I left on the morning of November 11. While waiting in Wilkes-Barre to make an Allentown connection, news of the signing of the armistice arrived. The Pittston contingent was ordered to return home. I telephoned mother. She answered tearfully. She had broken down, of course, after I left, as so many mothers did in those days.

I returned to Baltimore early in December and was in the shipyard until March. Then I received a contract from the Buffalo club. I called for $200 a month. I wrote President Lanning, asking for an increase. He raised the figures to $300 and I signed. Mrs. Lanning also owned an interest in the Newark club. I was sent from the water training camp to play with Newark in an exhibition game against the New York Yankees. I filled in at shortstop, Ernie Shore and Pete Schenck pitched for the Yanks. Muddy Ruel, who was later to reach the top of his game as Washington's catcher, did the relieving.

Ed Rouse was one of the Newark pitchers. He had been south with the Giants. We were beaten, but he pitched a good game. That season we won 22 games in the International league and the following year went up to the majors with the Athletics.

Connected Once.

I didn't cover myself with glory at all, although I did manage to get hold of one of Shore's twisters. When I was sent from the water training camp to play with Newark in an exhibition game against the New York Yankees, I filled in at shortstop, Ernie Shore and Pete Schenck pitched for the Yanks. Muddy Ruel, who was later to reach the top of his game as Washington's catcher, did the relieving.

The international league was a good school for youngsters that season. The clubs had many experienced players who had outlived their days in the big leagues. They were a great help in polishing the ones on the upgrade and making them ready for the majors. Players, who, like me, were soon graduated from the international league, included Kelly, Brown, Brover, Frank Ellerbe, Frank O'Rourke, Al Schacht, Ed Rommel, "Socks" Seibold, Charlie See and Bennie Benighoff. Bill Rye was with Buffalo that season. He won 15 games and the next year was recalled by the Giants. Jack Bentley was with Baltimore. Wilbur Hubbell was pitching for Toronto.

Inside of Matthews' Trip.

Schedule was to be with me later in Washington, had good season on the mound. He wasn't a comedian then, but a mighty good pitcher. He won 19 games and lost 17 for Jersey City. He never seemed to have much except headwork. He was one of the iron men of the league. He was a pitcher who never had a real chance in the day he reported to the minors. Then he couldn't stand the big league pace. There are such cases as this among the game. Matthews' trip to the big leagues was a hard one. He was a pitcher who never had a real chance in the day he reported to the minors. Then he couldn't stand the big league pace. There are such cases as this among the game.

Traded For McNeely.

There was much speculation when Washington let him go at a crucial stage in the pennant race. He helped inspire the team and his hitting was a factor in starting us on a winning streak when he had either to lead or drop out of the race. The truth of the matter is that in order to get McNeely, whose hit won the world's championship, we had to trade Matthews to the coast. The terms of the deal called for $50,000 cash and an outfielder. Liebold was a ten-year man and under baseball rules we couldn't send him. Matthews, who had fallen into a slump, went and was recalled in the fall.

My experience in Baltimore proved valuable before the 1919 season was far under way. I seemed to fit in well at second base and was soon a fixture in that position. My bat-

New York, January 28.—Gaston B. "It was suggested that I had prepared the financial affairs of the North Carolina campaign offer a. BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest remedy for chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist for Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain: the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for it is almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers are retracing their flight. Great flocks of the geese bound southward passed over the city today. Local weather prophets now predict a belated spring."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it purifies almost every vein in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—(adv.)

CITY EMPLOYEES' PAY HIT BY TRADES BODY

Resolutions deploring the wages paid some members of the city and county employees' association were adopted Wednesday night at a meeting of the Atlanta Federation of Labor, when it was charged that many employees of the city were receiving salaries far below a fair or a living wage.

Delegate Dickinson, following the introduction of the resolution, declared that there were many employees of the city working for as little as $60 a month. He also said that the president of the association had recently been transferred to another position and had received a reduction in salary from $100 to $80 a month. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 100 to 10.

The executive committee was ordered to wait on city officials with respect to the matter and if it was found that no money was available with which to increase salaries of these particular employees, to aid in pointing out a way where money could be found.

The meeting also adopted resolutions inviting the new president of the American Federation of Labor to visit Atlanta in February when he passes through this city either on his way to Miami, or on the return trip. Committee will be glad to plan an entertainment program, it was announced following adoption of the resolution.

TWO MORE RECORDS FALL UNDER FEET OF NURMI

Olympic Walking Champ Easily Beaten by Plant; Joie Ray Forced To Quit

New York, January 25.—Four more world records were smashed at the second night of the Millrose games Wednesday night, and it was your old friend Paavo Nurmi, of Finland, who broke two of them.

Paavo won the mile and a half run in 6:39.2, which was only his second record, as he had been clocked at the mile and a quarter in the new time of 5:30.1-5. His saving on the entire event was 2.5 seconds, and 3.25 for the shorter distance.

"Chesty Joie," who has seen one of his records shattered after another as he has trailed the little Finn in indoor races in this country, attributed his withdrawal to a coughing spell.

Before smashing the record for the mile and a half, Nurmi had also beaten Ray's record for the mile and a quarter. He was clocked for this distance at 5:30.1-5. Ray's record time had been 5:33.3-5.

Ray, of the Illinois Athletic club, who established the previous record in the Millrose games of 1923, dropped out in the second lap.

William Goodwin, New York Athletic club, took second place. William Cox, Rochester Technical, was third.

Both previous records had been set up by poor old chesty Joie Ray, who has seen one mark after another go crashing down behind the feet of the flying Finn during the past two or three weeks and who just naturally dropped out of the competition in the second lap of Wednesday night's race.

As poor Joie quit he clasped his

Fickle Dope Favors Boys' High Quint Over Smithies

BY GORDON KEITH.

For the first time in several years the Boys' High Hurricane is favored to win when meeting their ancient enemy, Tech High, all dope pointing to a Purple victory when the two speedy prep boys clash this afternoon on the Henry Grady court. The Boys' High quintet will have the best of chances to at least partly avenge the overwhelming defeat the southern champion football eleven administered to their own grid artists.

When these two rivals meet on any field and under any conditions the competition is as certain to be at fever heat and the battle to win as warm as only such things can. Dope, at any time, means very little in any of the prep classics, but when a Boys' High Tech High meeting is concerned it means still less, so heated is the battle and so hard the fight.

But it is interesting to note that it is the Boys' High team which has been the underdog before the games of the past three years. The Smithies entries always have the advantage, and though the Hurricane won some of the matches it was done directly by opposition to statistics and only by virtue of the great spirit of the teams, and now for a rather delightful change the advantage lies with them.

Here's the Dope.

Boys' High defeated G. M. A. rather handily, 25-15, while Tech High had a terrible time noosing out the cadets a week later by three points, 31-28. Boys' High defeated Lanier in a close game, 10-9, and a week later the Tech High quintet by the same margin, after two extra periods. Boys' High has won from the best prep league has to offer, with Tech High as an exception, of course, defeating G. M. A. Marist and University, while the only real accomplishment of the Smithies was their defeat of G. M. A. One day ago we agreed most heartily with the world, however, that such things, though interesting enough, will have absolutely nothing to do with the two clubs' performances this afternoon.

Both teams are playing on home soil, and both are in the best of condition, neither having taken the floor

The colored battler swarmed all over the local fighter from the start and was landing rights and lefts almost at will when the referee stopped the argument to save Robson further punishment. Flowers won every round by a good margin, and finished as fresh as he was when he started.

Deal Involves Several Hundred Thousand Dollars; Bought as Speculation

New York, January 25.—Three famous stallions, Fair Play, Hourless and Messenger, and 63 mares, comprising the nursery stud of the late August Belmont, situated near Lexington, Ky., were purchased today from the executors of the Belmont estate by Joseph B. Widener, Philadelphia sportsman.

After announcing his purchase, which was reported to involve several hundred thousand dollars, Mr. Widener announced that the entire stock of thoroughbreds at the nursery stud would be sold at public auction on May 15, the day prior to the running of the Kentucky derby.

This sale completed the disposal of the entire blood stock holdings of the late chairman of the Jockey club at a total price estimated in excess of half-million dollars.

Mr. Widener recently bought the entire crop of yearlings at the nursery stud. Of the racing stock Mrs. Payne Whitney bought Ordinance, while W. Averill Harriman brought a string which included Ladkin, one of the conquerors of Epiphany last season.

Prominent Horses.

Fair Play and Hourless are two of the best-known stallions in the United States. Both were famous racers before they were retired to the stud. Hourless having victories to his credit in such important events as the Belmont and Withers stakes, and the Grand Union hotel stakes at Saratoga in 1916 and 1917. Man-o-War and Ladkin were two of the most notable racers sired by Fair Play.

Fifteen of the mares in the lot are by Rock Sand, famous English derby winner, one of which, Pasta, alone, cost Major Belmont $25,000 when purchased in England.

An offer of $40,000 was refused a few days ago for two of the Rock Sand mares, while Ladkin, dam of Ladkin, is valued at about $25,000. Figures which give an indication of the value of the breeding stock. In discussing his purchase of the stud, Mr. Widener said:

"My acquisition of the stallions and brood mares was for the purpose of assisting the executors in the prompt settlement of the estate. In order to give all breeders an opportunity to

Bulldogs Ready for Action As Jacket Contest Nears

BY MARCUS BRYANT.

Athens, Ga., January 25.—(Special.) Only two more practices and the Georgia Bulldogs will be ready for the game with Tech's Jackets on the Atlanta court Saturday night. Daily scrimmages have been the order of Coach Herman Stegeman for the Bulldogs for the past several days, and the squad is rounding into very good condition.

A trio of red and black performers are not in the best of condition, however, as the day of the game approaches.

Captain Charlie Wiehrs, Walter Forbes and Nolan Richardson, performers in the Bulldogs' ranks, have been suffering from colds or like illness, but all three will be ready for the tussle Saturday.

Local fans have seen this year's Georgia quint in action only once. This appearance was against Vanderbilt last week, and though defeated, the red and blackers presented a strong machine.

Since athletic relations were severed by Georgia and Tech, the two basketball teams have met twice at the tournament, once in 1921 and again in 1923.

Georgia's showing against Vanderbilt showed a defect from shooting at a close range. Their floor work and passing was unusually good at times.

Teams Evenly Matched.

Tech also lost to Vanderbilt by practically the same margin of points and judging from this, the two teams should be very evenly matched.

Captain Charlie Wiehrs will lead his mates into the game, which is sure to be a hard-fought affair, and the Bulldogs are determined to give the Jackets plenty of opposition.

Georgia's record this season has been very good, winning five of the eleven games played.

Coach Stegeman is expected to carry ten men to Atlanta for the game. Large numbers of local followers will make the trip to Atlanta Saturday.

MARIST DROPS RIVERSIDE CONTEST

Gainesville, Ga., January 25.—(Special.)—Riverside Military academy quintet defeated the Marist college five of Atlanta, 36 to 28, in a hotly contested game here tonight.

The game started with Riverside scoring the first two baskets, but Marist came back strong and tied the count. Both teams played fast ball and the team work of both was excellent. The end of the first period found them in a 17 to 17 deadlock.

Riverside opened the second half with a rush, Franklin and Riddle riving the basket twice each in the first few minutes of play. Marist was completely outplayed in this period, Riverside scoring 19 points to their 11.

The game was clean throughout, few fouls being called on either team. Captain Riddle was high scorer at the evening with five field goals and one foul goal for a total of 11 points. Fee, of Marist, and Franklin, of Riverside, were close seconds with 10 points each. Black, of Riverside, deserves mention for his brilliant work.

Riverside meets Boys' High of Atlanta here Saturday night.

Lineup and Summary.

Riverside (36) Pos. (28) Marist Black (9) Corigan (4) Franklin (10) Williams (10) Betha (4) Fee (8) Riddle (11) Van Houten Williams Lambert Substitutions: Riverside: Smith for Betha; Fisher for Black; Smith for Smith; Black for Fisher. Marist: Langford (6) for Lambert.

Officials: Referee, Miller, New Holland Athletic club; timekeeper, Deanman, Riverside.

Auburn may sign more.

Auburn, Ala., January 25.—(Special.)—D. B. Morey, head athletic coach at Middlebury college, Vermont, was in Auburn today. Coach Morey came to Auburn to discuss the invitation of the Auburn Athletic committee and was in conference with the athletic officials during the day.

It is understood that negotiations are underway with the New Englander with a view of his appointment to assistant football coach and head baseball coach on the Plains.

According to information given out at a late hour tonight, no definite arrangements with Coach Morey had been arrived at, but it was understood that very favorable inclinations were being held by members of the committee on athletics toward the visiting coach.

N. D. TO NAME CAPTAIN FEB. 4

Notre Dame, Ind., January 25.—Monogram members of Notre Dame's 1924 national championship football team will assemble at the annual monogram banquet on Tuesday, February 4, at which time a captain for 1925 will be selected. Jimmy Crowley, half back, who has been unable to return to the campus since the Stanford game on account of illness, is expected to be present. Only members of the team and of the coaching staff will attend the banquet.

CENTENARY BILLS 3 S. I. A. A. GAMES

Shreveport, La., January 25.—(Special.)—The 1925 football schedule of the Centenary College Gentlemen announced here today by Homer Norton, director of athletics, consists of nine games. Three S. I. A. A. opponents, one Southern Conference team, and an inter-sectional clash with Butler university, of Indianapolis, Ind., are among the most important engagements carded.

Tulane university will be played Thanksgiving day at Shreveport. White, Union university, Rollins college and Mississippi college are the S. I. A. A. schools carded. The Tennessee school will be played the following week, October 31, at Tulsa.

NOW JUST LISTEN WHAT O'CONNELL TELLS 'EM

San Francisco, January 25.—Jimmy O'Connell, former New York National league outfielder, barred from baseball by Judge Landis, through his attorney today declared he would refuse to go to New York to testify before the district attorney unless he is given immunity.

O'Connell previously had said he would go east to testify. In asking immunity for O'Connell, Joseph L. McInerney, attorney for O'Connell, declared it was his intention to probe all the facts and circumstances surrounding the connection of O'Connell with the attempted bribe of Heinie Sand, of the Philadelphia Nationals.

ATLANTA GOLFER IS BEATEN AT MIAMI

Miami, Fla., January 25.—(Special.)—J. W. West, of Atlanta, was defeated in his match today in the first division of the Glenn Curtiss trophy tournament, being played here on the Hialeah links. West met his defeat at the hands of C. N. Phillips, of Atlantic City, who got around in 77, beating his opponent on the nineteenth green. E. G. Watkins, of Chattanooga, Tenn., state champion and medal winner, defeated Harry Curlette, of Bar Harbor, today on the last green by one up. He will meet C. A. Roberts, of New York, in the semi-finals tomorrow. Phillips, vanquisher of West, will meet Dan Jarvis, of Nashville.

MERCER TO ADD ATHLETIC FIELD

Macon, Ga., January 25.—(Special.)—A third athletic field will be built at Mercer university by next fall, Coach S. L. Robinson has announced. The additional field is to be especially for class tennis and amateurs in all forms of sports.

The field is to be erected to avoid the usual criticism that college athletics are to the campus since the field will be made for football, baseball and track games, and all students, whether they show athletic ability or not, are to be urged to participate in some form of sports.

PADDOCK OFFERS HANDICAP TO NURMI

Pasadena, Calif., January 25.—Charlie Paddock, the great sprinter, is one American who thinks he can outfoot Paavo Nurmi, of Finland, but he insists on running his own distance, the century dash. However, he offers Nurmi a 5 per cent handicap.

"Nurmi is only a middle-distance man, but Finland's champion sprinter," said Paddock. "I haven't had much experience running indoors, but I am willing to give him a five per cent handicap in a 100-yard dash in these at. We'll have to race by the middle of February, however, because Loren Murchison and I are figuring on leaving for a world tour on the 28th."

PETREL CO-EDS ARE DEFEATED

The Decatur girls' basketball team defeated the Oglethorpe Co-eds Wednesday night in a one-sided but bitterly contested game by a score of 35 to 15.

Nichols, captain and center of the Oglethorpe aggregation, shot 13 of her outfit's 15 points, but was unable to win the game all by herself. Hatch, of the Oglethorpe co-eds, also played a jam-up game, but the breaks were against Oglethorpe.

Glennay, at right forward, starred for Decatur, scoring 12 Decatur's 35 points. Runners for the Decatur honors were Allen with eight points and Dukehart with six.

It was a good game, all in all, and a new and unusual spectacle. The spectators watched it through and a good time was had by all.

PREP CHAMPS TO PLAY MIAMI

The Southern champions will have added another colorful game to their 25 football schedule when the squad takes its third road trip, this time to Miami, Fla., to meet the Miami High school team on December 5.

The Miami officials requesting the game asked for the Thanksgiving date, but the Atlanta team will be very much occupied with the Pine Bluff (Ark.) team on the holiday, and the post-season game was settled upon.

HINMAN HEADS D. H. GOLF CLUB

Dr. Thomas P. Hinman was re-elected president of the Druid Hills Golf club and the other officers during the past year were re-elected at an annual meeting held Tuesday evening.

The other officers are Lowry Arnold, vice president; H. W. Davis, treasurer, and C. E. Gaines, secretary.

The new directors named at the annual meeting were Sam T. Madrox, L. L. Shivers, W. Colquhoun, C. J. New and C. J. Holditch, with J. R. Potter, J. P. Dick, F. B. Fisher, G. F. Willis and W. A. Fuller being named as holdovers from last year.

A favorable report was made concerning the new clubhouse that is now under construction and will cost approximately $135,000. The locker rooms and kitchen are almost completed and the entire plant will be ready for use by May 15, according to the building committee.

BOETHIANS MEET INFANTRY QUINT

Three City league basketball games will be played tonight on the Y. M. C. A. court in the fourth round of play. The feature game on the schedule tonight will be between the Y. C. Catholic and Power club. The schedule follows:

Boethians vs. 22nd Infantry.

C. C. club vs. Power club.

Y. Reda vs. G. F. G. club.

TIGERS BREAK LOSING STREAK

BY EMMETT SIZEMORE.

Auburn, Ala., January 25.—(Special.)—The Auburn Plainsmen basketball team broke its losing streak and won from the Montgomery "Y" tonight by a score of 34 to 12.

The visitors were playing their first game of the season, and while they were a hot fight throughout, showed signs of nervousness at the baskets and resorted frequently to long shots with a seldom successful connection with the rings.

The Tigers were minus the services of Bill McKinney, at forward, on account of illness, and Ware substituted at the goal tending position. Evans got off first with a two-pointer.

The Auburners obtained an eight-point lead before Willis rung an easy one for Montgomery, starting their scoring.

Auburn maintained a comfortable lead throughout the first period and the first semester closed with the score, Auburn 19, Montgomery 8.

Auburn improved in their passing game over previous contests. Long, at center, played a good game at the pivot position. Wallace McKinney, playing at running guard, with 10 points, gave a creditable account of himself. Evans tallied McKinney's count at the rings and came through with 10 markers to his credit. Banks, substituting for Gray, played a good game. Hall, at center, counted six points.

Hudson, guard for the visitors, played a good game at the pivot position. Wallace Hall, former Auburn player, was crowded by the Auburn guards and his long shots failed to register. Gladden Harrison, former Auburn student and well-known "Y" athletic director, is coaching the Montgomery team.

Lineup and Summary.

Auburn Pos. (3) "Y" Ware (4) M. "Y" Hall (10) (4) Willis Hall (6) (3) Smith McKinney (10) (3) Hudson Gray (1) Oliver Substitutions: Auburn: Kaley (2) for Ware, Doughtie for Evans, Long (2) for Hall, Banks for Gray, Evans for Doughtie, Long for Kaley, Gray for Banks; Montgomery "Y": Trawick (2) for Smith, Smith for Trawick, Cody for Oliver, Oliver for Willis, Nation for Cody, Trawick for Smith, Willis for Nation, Smith for Willis.

GEORGIA SEEKS JIM CROWLEY

Athens, Ga., January 25.—Negotiations with Jimmy Crowley, Notre Dame halfback, looking to his possible acquisition by a Georgia football coaching staff as an assistant, were started since Christmas by Harry Mehers, line coach at Georgia and a former teammate of Crowley at Notre Dame.

Mehers wrote Crowley, after a conference with Head Coach Woodruff, but has not received a reply, due possibly to the fact that Crowley was confined on the Pacific coast by an injury suffered in the New Year's game there. The letter was written to ascertain if Crowley would be interested in a proposition to come to Georgia as an assistant coach, it was said by Mehers.

MOREHOUSE MEETS A. & T. COLLEGE

Morehouse College and A. & T. college from Greensboro, N. C., will meet tonight at 8:30 o'clock on the Clarke university basketball court, which promises to be one of the best colored basketball games of the season. Morehouse has been practicing hard for the past two months in an effort to keep the eight-year record of only one defeat perfect as far as possible. A. & T. is coming to Atlanta seeking revenge.

New York, January 23.—A much better tone prevailed in cotton today. Influenced by active demand from shorts, reports of better spot markets, and increased export activity, the market, after midday, advanced 26 to 32 points over the previous close and 57 to 60 points over yesterday's low.

The market opened steady and unchanged to four points lower as a result of disappointing cables and news from the cotton markets and offerings from commission houses, the south and spot interests. May contracts later advanced to 25.60 and the general market about 8 points net lower when it again encountered trading which checked the decline.

After midday it became decidedly stronger and was bid up to 24.03 for May by shorts and commission houses on private cables indicating that Manchester curials were unlikely, and also on reports of a much better spot situation in the south, together with wires stating that a Georgia cooperative organization was unlikely in the past few days. Support was maintained up to the close, which was only a little under highest prices of the day.

Some of the big traders who are now in Florida were reported to have become interested on the long side of the market. The general business in general was slow. While local stocks have decreased about 10,000 bales since the first of January, an upward trend is expected because of large shipments from New Orleans, destined to apply on March contracts. Exports continued fair and some of the buying near the close was based on reports of a sharp advance in the price of commercial fertilizer.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK.

New York, January 23.—Cotton spot steady; middling 23.90.

GAINS ARE SEEN AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, January 23.—The cotton market after closing up 17 points on the near positions and 9 points on October in the early trading, developed a much better tone and became fairly active during the afternoon. The March position at the highest showed a gain of 40 points over the early low and 23 points over the previous close. While the close was a trifle below the high points of the day, the market showed a net gain of 26 points for the day. Contrary to the experience of the earlier days of the week when the late positions were firmest, yesterday the near months developed the most strength.

At the opening the market was steady in sympathy with better Liverpool cables than day and first trades showed gains of 2 to 4 points. The market soon eased off, March trading down to 23.46, or 11 to 17 points net lower, compared with the previous close. The market then continued to improve and rallied rather sharply in the afternoon, March trading up to 23.72. May 23.93 and October 23.82, or 36 to 40 points net over the early low. The market closed not far from the top, showing net gains for the day of 21 to 23 points.

The recession of the first part of the morning was due mainly to a weekly weather report, which said plowing had made good progress in the southern portions of the gulf states and even in Texas, although that state was a while still backward. The rally from the early slump was started by reports of a good spot demand in the southern markets and during the afternoon, it was reported that the winter cottons in Florida, which had been selling at a loss, were now being sold at a profit. This led to quite a good rally.

Reports from Liverpool to the effect that the market was becoming more active and that the cotton was being sold at a profit, would be in favor of curtailing working hours helped the advance.

Exports for the day totaled 26,793 bales, of which Galveston cleared 12,111 bales and the Pacific coast ports 8,635 bales.

CURB OILS TOUCH NEW HIGH LEVELS

New York, January 23.—Strength and activity of the oil shares, many of which attained new high levels on the current movement, featured trading on the curb market. Demand for petroleum products was stimulated by a number of independent companies.

Considerable activity developed in the standard oil group. Imperial Oil of Canada mounted 5 1/2 points to 120, while Prairie Oil and Gas, Standard Oil of Nebraska and Kansas, and South Penn Oil advanced 3 to 5 points. Steady accumulation of Vacuum Oil lifted its price 2 1/2 points.

Conflicting price movements marked trading in other sections. Selling pressure was directed against a number of the radio issues, Thermodyne yielding 9 points. Fractional recessions took place in a variety of other radio stocks.

Public utilities generally worked lower. Electric Bond and Shares, which sold as high as 110 in the opening market after segregation by General Electric company, sold today at 90 3/4, a net loss of over 20 points.

American Power, Light and American Super Power shares also lost ground.

Decrease of 470,000.

SEMINARY CASE
C. R. B. MARKET
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Declaring that the location of the Columbia Theological seminary at Decatur offers the "most strategic opportunity for investing its money," and endorsing the establishment of the seminary on a site at Decatur, J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott College, the letter was made public Wednesday by Dr. R. O. Plinn, of Atlanta, chairman of the publicity committee of the school to which it was addressed.

Dr. McCain's letter follows: My Dear Dr. Plinn: In response to your letter of the 10th inst. regarding the location of the Columbia Theological seminary, I am glad to hear that you are planning to build a new building at Decatur. I believe that this is a very wise move, and I am sure that the new building will be a great asset to the seminary.

This was before the question of the location of the seminary was brought up. I am sure that the new building will be a great asset to the seminary. I believe that this is a very wise move, and I am sure that the new building will be a great asset to the seminary.

TRIAL AT BUCHANAN OF STEWART CASE

Buchanan, Ga., January 25.—Five men indicted here for the murder last November of Mrs. Robert Stewart are expected to go on trial here today in Haralson superior court. The men, are O. J. Henderson and his two sons, Otis and Herbert; Calvin Bishop, Jr., and Tom Guber, Jr.

Mrs. Stewart, wife of Rev. Robert Stewart, a Methodist preacher, was shot November 15 at Drakestown, when she went to the rescue of her husband, who was forced into an automobile by a band of alleged night-riders, following his fight on moon-shining. Mrs. Stewart fired into the would-be abductors and was in return fired upon, and received wounds from which she died two days later at an Atlanta hospital.

Her husband, in the excitement, leaped from the automobile, grabbed the pistol from the hands of his prospective wife, and fired several shots at the fleeing cars. It may have been the shot of either Mr. or Mrs. Stewart, it has never become known.

The men placed on trial today were held at a preliminary trial following the death of Mrs. Stewart and were indicted last week by the grand jury. At the fall Methodist conference Rev. Stewart was transferred to a charge at Greensboro, but he returned to Buchanan to assist in the prosecution of the men charged with the death of his wife.

MORE RAIN HALTS FLOOD RELIEF WORK

Conditions still are very bad around Doctortown and several other points between Waycross and Jacksonville. West Point clear. The West Point railroad reported no trouble, and it was said that all trains were running to all points on time.

SITUATION DEPRESSED BY RAIN.—Townsend, Ga., January 25.—Facing a dark and dreary day made further depressing by the rains, which began to fall last night and continued today, coupled with the prediction that this vicinity has not yet experienced the worst of the bad waters that pour from an endless supply of tributaries to the Altamaha river, citizens of Townsend today were preparing for drastic conditions forecast by government authorities, scheduled to come by Saturday or Sunday. That the flood-stricken sufferers would be forced to leave their marooned homes and seek safety on the

Where Flood Waters From North Georgia Now Rage

Unprecedented floods on Georgia rivers have wrought havoc in the southern and eastern portions of the state, as is graphically illustrated by the pictures above. At the upper left is shown the Southern railroad bridge over the Ocmulgee river at Lumber City. A river steamer, the Lynhrst, floats on a level with the roof of the Ocmulgee depot, the peak of which appears in front of part of the boat. In the foreground is shown the top of a heavily loaded box car, placed there to hold the sidetrack down. This car was finally completely covered with water. In the picture at the upper right can be seen a telegraph pole which, although on the Southern tracks fully a mile from the channel of the Ocmulgee, barely holds its cross bar above the swirl of the swollen waters. Lower left, the Savannah river bridge at Port Wentworth. Workers are hastily reinforcing with sand bags the fourth span of the bridge, which reaches across to South Carolina. A large part of the foundations have been undermined by the flood with an estimated damage of $7,500 and the opening of the bridge will be delayed six or eight weeks until early summer. The main road approaching this bridge is shown in the view to the lower right. This splendid highway has been badly washed in several places, but is holding its own in the vicinity of the bridge. Lower center, the Atlantic Coast Line tracks at Ludowici, flooded in some sections and in others sharply tilted by the erosion of the Altamaha.

Heavy rains of today have added to already pitiable condition of flood sufferers of West Bainbridge. Practically every house and factory in town is either washed off or undermined and knocked out of position. The exact damage will not be determined until the water recedes and the people take stock.

Fortunately no lives were lost at this point. Rains today make the relief work hard and inconvenient. Liberty mills, Elberta Cate company, Sutherland Machine Works & Foundry, Shore's mills, McKenzie's mills and Frazer & Hunt's Stave factory are still under water and something like 1,000 people are out of work. Goods were washed out of the stores down the river and new supplies are being sent by boat to them from Bainbridge.

Both railroads were washed out for miles and county highway bridge is completely gone. Roughly estimated, damages will run around a million dollars.

HOME OWNERS FIND DESOLATION AT NEWTON.—Albany, Ga., January 25.—(Special.)—According to Red Cross and army medical officers who have been assigned to Newton to handle the menacing situation in the flood-stricken county seat of Baker county, the completeness of the flood water's destruction in the dwellings of the town is just now becoming apparent. To day it has been possible to get into a number of dwellings for the first time, and an inventory of the wreckage in stores and offices will be possible tomorrow.

Dwellings that had been under water for 10 days were able to be entered today, and what the owners found beggars description. Owing to the rapidity of the flood's rise at Newton early last week, it was impossible to remove either household effects or merchandise. The best that could be done was to place rugs, bedding, clothing and other articles which water would ruin on the tops of dressers, tables and mantels, while in the stores merchandise was elevated to the higher shelves and tables placed on the counters.

But the crest of the flood rose high above what had been anticipated with the result that the top shelves in the stores were covered, and in many dwellings the water went up to the ceiling. The result was that all household goods were ruined, including pianos, victrolas radio sets, fine furniture and valuable clothing.

Mud settled over everything as the river went down, and the contents of many stores and dwellings are a complete loss.

Relief work at Newton is proceeding satisfactorily. Typhoid inoculations are being made compulsory, and daily meetings for instruction in sanitation are being held. Water was still several feet deep in the public square today, but it was anticipated the ground would be uncovered tomorrow.

A clean-up campaign will be immediately begun under direction of the Red Cross and an emergency plant for the disinfecting of bedding and other salvaged articles is being planned.

The flood situation has been relieved by supplies that have come in from a number of neighboring towns.

BRUNSWICK-DARIEN ROAD COVERED.—Brunswick, Ga., January 25.—(Special.)—Almost a freezing weather, a high northeast wind and rain added to the fury of the storm-stricken sections of Glynn and McIntosh counties today, and with the water still slightly on the increase, more damage will be the result.

The situation along the Altamaha delta between Glynn and McIntosh remains practically the same. The water has not dropped an inch and the costly automobile highway across the five-mile delta is covered by three to four feet of water.

It is impossible to estimate the damage to the road until the water has receded and an examination made. But it is known that sections of the highway have been washed away. Negroes in boats today made a trip in batteaus all over the delta, but so high was the water that they could not tell to what extent the road had been washed.

The usually quiet Buffalo swamp continued to rise throughout the day and it is covering an area 10 miles long and from one to three miles wide. People along the edges of the swamp, however, have all reached high land and no suffering at all has been experienced. They are only 10 miles from Brunswick.

While Darien is entirely cut off except by water, reports from there state that there is no danger of the Altamaha leaving its banks there. Ample provisions are on hand and a steamer from this city made a trip to Darien today, carrying a number of passengers and provisions which had accumulated here.

Brunswick's only auto outlet was still passable today, the Dixie highway to Jacksonville, and although the entire road through the Buffalo is covered, traffic moved over the highway. Two bridges, however, are reported covered and unless there is a let-up in the rise of the water serious damage is sure to result.

Railroad traffic is still badly demoralized, though there has been some improvement by the Southern re-establishing its service to Atlanta by detouring over the Atlantic Coast line tracks to Nahant, thence to Jasper, and over the main line to Atlanta.

ELKS GIVE $2,400 TO FLOOD VICTIMS.—A fund of $2,400 has been raised by Elks for the relief of sufferers in the flooded districts of south Georgia, it was announced Wednesday from local headquarters of the Elks club.

A sum of $1,000 donated by the national organization, and a similar amount given through G. P. Magdoni by the state association, has been augmented by $300 by the Albany club and $100 by the Atlanta club, according to the report. The $1,000 sent by the national association was announced in a letter from James G. Price, grand exalted ruler.

CUPID MASTERS CAPTAIN OF GIANT LEVIATHAN

every year just to relax and enjoy myself."

(Sotto voice: If Captain Hartley loves Georgia, boy, he must be cuckoo about Alabama.)

Then, at the recent interview, Captain Hartley went on and told about what a wonderful ship the Leviathan turned out to be. Talked about gamblers, too, but never mentioned the greatest gamble of all times—the official "I do!" Later, he went on his way to Opelika, Ala., and early Wednesday he was married to Miss Mary Weir Wilson, of that place, daughter of Mrs. Ada Wilson. Her father, the late W. H. Wilson, for many years publisher of The Opelika News. The Wilson family is exceptionally prominent in Alabama.

Still New York didn't get a flash. And Atlanta was with New York.

The story "busted" when Captain Hartley, with a Neptune smile on his generally solemn countenance, accompanied by his pretty bride, arrived in Atlanta over the Atlanta & West Point railroad and in a private car, on train No. 40, at 2:20 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The newlyweds were en route to New York.

Undoubtedly they will spend their honeymoon in New York before the Leviathan, which will make its first trip of 1925 within a month or so, takes the captain away. Captains can't take their wives along. It is a strict maritime order.

At the terminal in Atlanta Wednesday afternoon—evidently informed by railroad officials of the distinguished bride and groom's advent—were Howard Candler, intimate friend of the captain, and a few select friends. At the last but crucial moment, newspaper photographers got the bulletin, and they snapped around the railroad station profusely.

Everybody Happy.
Everybody was happy. Captain Hartley said: "I'm too happy for words."

His blushing bride echoed: "Me, too."

That was all. Then another fast train whizzed them out of Atlanta for New York, where the couple will arrive late Thursday.

Captain Hartley met the then Miss Wilson two years ago aboard the liner Mongolia. It was in August, 1923, I believe. The romance got a

HOME VISITATION PLANS COMPLETED TONIGHT

Final plans for the home visitation movement, which will be carried out in Atlanta and nearby cities Friday afternoon, will be discussed at a meeting of leaders and volunteer workers in the movement at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Wesley Memorial auditorium, corner Auburn avenue and Ivy street.

J. Shreve Durham, international superintendent of Home Visitation for the International Council of Religious Education, will make a brief talk to workers, it was announced.

Leaders in the movement stated Wednesday that the response for volunteers has been highly satisfactory and that 4,103 workers are assured.

It is hoped, leaders stated, that the canvass of homes can be completed in less than two hours Friday afternoon. It was pointed out that local leaders did not realize how thickly built up some sections of the city are until they began a systematic planning for the visitation work. Every person who has volunteered will be needed to complete the work, it was stated.

Workers will meet at the headquarters in their respective neighborhoods where they are designated at 1:45 o'clock Friday afternoon and will be sent out in pairs to visit a block in their section, it was stated. Citizens of Atlanta and nearby cities are urged that one member of the family, at least, be at home to receive the visitors and give them the information they will ask for.

swift start for it was a fast boat. It ripened perceptibly and the marriage Wednesday was the blossom. Miss Wilson then was making a home-bound trip from Germany, where she had been visiting her brother.

J. P. Billups, general passenger agent of the Atlanta & West Point railroad, was another who warmly greeted the newlyweds here Wednesday. He knew the captain well.

Telephone Business Office moved to 67 Edgewood Avenue (Ground Floor, Hurt Building).

Atlanta Music Club
Program Features
Miss M. Keipp

The Atlanta Music club, of which Mrs. Charles Chalmers is musical chairman, presented an unusually interesting program Wednesday morning, and regardless of the inclemency of the weather, a large audience was in attendance, the attractive program announced having drawn many lovers of music in its various branches who are not members of the club.

The program, which featured Miss Madeleine Keipp, with Mrs. W. W. Bateman, soprano, and Miss Blanche Roberts and Mrs. Frances Stovall Felder, pianists, as assisting artists, was arranged by Mrs. Armond Carroll, chairman for the morning, who presided during its rendition.

Miss Keipp who is a charming and convincing speaker, and recognized as an authority in Atlanta's musical circles, gave a lecture on the "Harmonic Basis of Music," holding the close attention of her audience with the wealth of interesting and instructive thoughts presented. One delightful illustration used by her was: "When a friend 'knocks' you, as friends often do, that is rhythm; when a friend you meet and her gentle tones greet, that is melody; when friends go along, just as one grand sweet song, that is harmony." Mrs. Carroll assisted Miss Keipp by giving chords and scales as required in illustrating points in the lecture.

A group of songs, among which were, "Hark, Hark, the Lark," by Schubert, were delightfully sung by Mrs. W. W. Bateman, of College Park, who not only possesses a very pleasing soprano voice, but is a composer of marked ability.

Miss Blanche Roberts ably presented "Reflections in the Water," by Debussy, and the "Magic Flute Music," by Wagner. Miss Roberts, who is an artist pupil of Mrs. Carroll, plays in a delicate and delightful style, and possesses the art of expressing musically what the composer intended the title to imply.

The young local artist, Mrs. Frances Stovall Felder, also an artist pupil of Mrs. Carroll, gave a musical rendition of the first movement of the intricate sonata "Trazion," by MacDowell. She displayed fine technical skill, beautiful sounding and quality of tone.

The entire program was a model of good taste and was presented intelligently and artistically, giving unusual enjoyment to the audience in educational value and entertainment.

Steffner-Cook Wedding Is Beautiful Home Event

The marriage of Miss Martha Lewis Steffner and Lawrence Douglas Cook was a beautiful event of Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George U. Steffner, in Druid Hills. The ceremony, which took place at 8:30 o'clock, was performed by Dr. J. W. Caldwell, Jr., before an altar of palms and smilax in the handsome living room of the home.

Flanking the altar on either side were tall wicker standards holding massive white candles, coming from the center of clusters of hyacinths and roses. Starring the center was a mound of white roses and hyacinths, in pyramid effect, from which ascended white cathedral candles, forming an arch of lights. The chandeliers, stairway and doorways were garlanded with smilax and adorning the stair-landing was a tall wicker basket of pastel shaded flowers.

Before the ceremony a delightful musical program was rendered by Miss Eda Bartholomew, assisted by E. A. Werner, who sang "I Love You Truly," "Beloved It Is Morn," "O Perfect Love." Lohengrin's Wedding March announced the approach of the bridal party.

Government Film To Be Shown at Children's Matinee

The Atlanta Better Films committee is delighted to announce that the government films, depicting the history of the airplane which attracted so much favorable comment at the private showing at the Atlanta Woman's club last Saturday night, have been secured by Mrs. Newton C. Wing, matinee chairman, from Rear Admiral Fulmer, of the United States navy, and the American Aeronautical association, and will be shown at the regular children's matinee at the Howard theater Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock. These films are the ones that were to be shown to a large audience at the chamber of commerce last week but did not arrive in time. A large audience is expected to view this remarkable picture in which are shown the latest developments in aircraft. Among startling incidents are the actual bringing together on the screen of continents, first by the slow moving boat of olden times, next by the huge ship of modern commerce, and lastly by the airplane, which shortens the distance between America and Europe to 20 hours. Another view presents the possible bombing of New York city by enemy planes in so realistic a manner that one shudders at the possibility. The pictures plainly show the necessity of airplanes in war, and in the development of modern commerce. College and school students are especially invited to attend this matinee, as the performance will interest adults as well as those younger. Prominent educators who viewed the pictures last Saturday expressed themselves as endorsing them to the fullest extent, and delighted at the prospect of their being shown to the public. In keeping with the high character of the program Saturday, is to be the delightful prologue given under the direction of Mrs. William Claer Spiker, who will present the beautiful little Hogan sisters, Kathleen and Mary Grace, in a dance number which represents the height of art and which undoubtedly will add greatly to the pleasures of the audience. A comedy feature will be Laura La Plante in "Young Ideas" which represents the struggles of a young girl to support a family of imaginary invalids, who through the laughable efforts of her sweetheart, and the family doctor, are converted to health. This is a five-reel picture, full of humor and having a fascinating dose of action in addition, which will delight the younger set. The admission is ten cents for children and twenty for adults. Invitations admitting two have been issued to the following Atlantans and their wives, who are especially interested in the science of aviation, and who will have boxes reserved for them, in the balcony: Governor Walker, Mayor Sims, W. R. C. Smith, representing the interest of the chamber of commerce; Howard Candler, Alfred Newell, F. O. Stone, Secretary S. T. McClelland, Thomas L. Stokes, Major Falligan, Willis A. Sutton, superintendent Atlanta schools; the following presidents of civic clubs: Hagbert Porter, president, Civilians; Press Huddleston, president, Lions; Robert Jones, president, Kiwanis; John M. Slaton, Jr., president, Junior chamber of commerce; L. F. Foster, president Inter-Civic council; B. H. Barker, executive secretary chamber of commerce; Fred Houser, Fred Paxson, Louis Newton, F. W. Wilcox, Weyman Williamson, Colonel Danforth, commanding the Fourth Area; James D. Watson, Colonel A. E. Williams, Captain W. A. Sirmon, W. E. Lee Cone, Marvin Underwood, Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, Dr. W. F. Cox, Dr. M. L. Brittain, Colonel D'Arcy Pearce, Mrs. B. M. Borkin, Mrs. T. T. Stevens, Mrs. Norman Sharp; and officers of the International Relations committee of the Atlanta Woman's club, who are interested in bringing the world fliers to Atlanta in March. Colonel Danforth has accepted the invitation to give the talk accompanying the pictures, and will be introduced by R. E. Lee Cone, president of the Atlanta Aeronautical association. Acting as hostesses Saturday will be Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, president Atlanta Better films committee; Turner Jones and Mrs. Porter Langston, vice presidents; Mrs. Frank McCormack, treasurer, and La Mar, secretary; Mrs. George Price, chairman P.T.A. representatives; Mrs. Cheston Weems, chairman reviewing; Mrs. Newton C. Wing, chairman children's matinees; Miss Nell Enloe, chairman prologues; Mrs. W. L. McCalley, chairman of chaperones and Mrs. L. C. Holsenback, chairman at the Alpha Three thousand badges, advertising the performance, are being distributed.

STEFFNER-COOK BEAUTIFUL WEDDING

gowned in pink chiffon trimmed with pink ostrich.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Ralph Brooks, wore a beautiful gown of silver green satin trimmed with ostrich feathers and carried a flat arm bouquet of Ophelia roses and valley lilies, these edged with ostrich feathers in pastel shades, and showered with silver ribbons.

Miss Mary Gladys Steffner was lovely as maid of honor, wearing a gown of pink satin trimmed in pink ostrich. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies, edged with ostrich feathers and showered with silver ribbon.

Little Miss Sara Cook, niece of the groom, was flower girl and wore a dainty frock of pink georgette trimmed with ruffles and carried a wicker French basket of pink roses and valley lilies.

Charles A. Cook was his brother's best man.

Radiant Bride.

The lovely bride, who was given in marriage by her father, George U. Steffner, was radiant in her wedding gown of lustrous white satin, made along straight lines and elaborately beaded in pearls and crystals. Her tulle veil was caught to her hair with sprays of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies, showered with valley lilies. Her only ornament was a diamond platinum bar pin, the gift of the groom.

A reception followed the ceremony. In the dining room the bride's table was overlaid with an exquisite lace cloth, in the center of which was placed the wedding cake in a mound of roses and smilax, surmounted by a miniature bride and groom. Four silver candelsticks held white tapers and at intervals were placed silver compotes of green and white mints and bonbons. On the buffet was placed a basket of white flowers, on either side of this basket stood single candelsticks holding unshaded tapers.

Punch bowls in the dining room and sun parlor were embedded in a mound of flowers. Misses Eleanor Dunlap, Juliet Crenshaw, White Kolan and Mary Palmer Caldwell presided at the punch bowls.

Mrs. Steffner, mother of the bride, was gowned in an elaborately beaded blue georgette. Her corsage bouquet was of orchids and valley lilies.

During the evening Mr. Cook and his bride left for a wedding trip to Florida.

The bride wore a handsome ensemble suit of brown bengaline, trimmed with squirrel collar and cuffs. Her hat was a spring model of tan straw. Upon their return they will be at home with the bride's parents.

Mrs. Anne Hull Weds Captain C. T. Phillips.

Of wide social interest was the marriage of Mrs. Anne Burnett Hull to Captain Charles T. Phillips, U. S. A., solemnized Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. K. Kerslake, 2030 Newark avenue, Washington, D. C., in the presence of the families of the bride and groom and a few friends. Rev. H. C. D. Stenett, rector of All Saints' church, was the officiating clergyman.

Mrs. H. K. Kerslake, intimate friend of the bride, was matron of honor, and the bride's only attendant.

The bride entered with former Senator Hoke Smith, who gave her in marriage.

The groom entered with his brother, Lieutenant William K. Phillips, who acted as best man.

The bride was exquisitely lovely in a gown of silver over peach satin, and her bouquet was of butterfly roses and valley lilies, showered with valley lilies.

Following the ceremony there was an informal buffet supper.

Captain and Mrs. Phillips left immediately after the reception for New York, where they will sail Wednesday afternoon for California via Panama. After April 1 they will be at home at 2150 California avenue, Washington, D. C.

The bride is the second daughter of Mrs. Burnett and the late brilliant lawyer, Captain Burnett, beloved and prominent resident of Athens. She was educated at Lucy Cobb institute, where she was one of the belles at this old historic southern school.

Captain Phillips, although a Tennessee by birth, has spent much of his life in Atlanta. He attended Gordon Military institute and was later a student at the University of Georgia, where he was a member of the Chi Psi fraternity.

He entered the air service in 1917. He is air service representative on the staff of the commanding general of the third corps area, also air service instructor for the Maryland national guard, and assistant corps area recruiting officer. Captain Phillips is the oldest son of the late Charles T. Phillips and Mrs. Phillips, one of the most beloved of Atlanta women, well known through her devoted patriotic work. He is a brother of W. Paschall Phillips, D. C. and great-grandson of Lieutenant William K. Phillips, U. S. N.

He is the grandson of the late Walter Goodie Paschall and of Mrs. Paschall. He is a nephew of W. D. Paschall, John Paschall and R. D. Paschall, of Atlanta, and of Mrs. Norman H. Davis, of New York, and Mrs. James Alexander McNeill, of Nashville, Tenn.

On his paternal side he is related to the Lindseys, Kearnays and Carters, of Mississippi and Tennessee, is a grandson of the late Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Phillips, and great-grandson of Colonel Hugh McCord Williamson, surveyor general of Mississippi; a nephew of J. F. Walker, of Memphis, Tenn., and of Mrs. Joseph M. Bowman, of Hartford, Cal.

BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA K. FORBES.

MANICURE HELPS.

Most of my readers, I think, have my cold cream formula, which can be made up two ways, one with mineral oil as a cleansing cream, and the other with almond or olive oil as a flesh builder, or what stores generally term a massage cream. I've been advising making this up as a cleanser, and making more than is needed because the extra amount can be used in several ways other than on the face.

For instance, a small pot of it should be somewhere about the dressing table. The last thing at night, a little of the cream should be rubbed into each finger nail (preferably right after the hands are washed with soap and water) and then the skin pushed back with the end of an orange wood stick. This keeps the cuticle soft all the time, prevents bungalins, and makes a thorough manicure necessary only once a week or less, instead of every few days as happens if the nails are neglected.

Every woman likes pink nails. It's a fact of course, some seasons we have them almost red, and that's ugly. But pink nails have been thought beautiful from the time of the ancient Egyptians and no doubt the ancient Chinese, too, if we only happened to know about it. Probably this is because pink nails, like pink ears, indicate health and a good circulation. Well, to achieve a fashionable, and slightly more than healthy pinkness, you have only to take a tablespoonful or so of the cold cream, cleansing or flesh making, it doesn't matter, put it in a tiny pot and powder in some rouge, adding the red until the cream is itself fairly red. Rub this into your nails after a manicure, when you are ready to polish, or rub it in at night, it doesn't matter, or when you are dressing to go out, rub in a little, push back the cuticle with an orange wood stick, wipe off with cold cream as you can and polish with a buffer. Your nails will be nicely pink in the corners.

F. E. E.: Your hair appears to be lacking in vitality, as there is no lustre to it. If you give your scalp a daily massage to increase its circulation, you will improve the condition and it may be all that is necessary to stop this tendency to stray gray hairs. You can tint such hairs by using henna.

Mrs. P. A. E.: An astringent made from white of egg is not drying to the skin to any extent, but you should always follow up such a treatment with an application of cream or a good oil and massage as much of it into the skin as the pores will absorb. Such treatment is only for times when the skin requires special care, and not often more than once a week. The proportions are one-part white of egg to six-parts water. Usually the small amount of white left in the shell after dropping out the whole egg will be enough when the right quantity of water is added to cover the face and throat entirely. Leave it on skin for about 20 minutes before washing off, and before you make the oil or cream application.

This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question.—The Editor.

SICK WOMEN ATTENTION!

Read this Remarkable Testimony Regarding Results from Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Norfolk, Virginia. — "If you only knew how many women and girls have taken your medicine by hearing my testimony, it would seem wonderful to you. Every day and every chance I have I advise some one to try it. It was in June, 1904, when I had given up ever getting well, that I wrote to you. My husband went to the drug-store and brought the Vegetable Compound home to me. In a few days I began to improve and I have often taken it since. I am now passing through the Change of Life and still stick by it and am enjoying wonderful health. When I first started with your medicines I was a mere shadow. My health seemed to be gone. The last doctor I had said he would give me no more local treatments unless I went to the hospital and was operated on. That was when I gave the doctors up. Now I am a healthy robust woman. I wish I could tell the world what a wonderful medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is." — Mrs. J. A. Jones, 817 Colley Avenue, Norfolk, Virginia.

Red Hair and Blue Sea

By Stanley R. Osborn.

SYNOPSIS.

Palmyra Tree, on board the yacht Rainbow, which is leaving the California coast for the South Sea, is startled to see a sneaky hand with a black lace mitt on it thrust through her porthole window. Palmyra is loved by two men, John Thurston and Van Buren Rutger. She is not certain which she loves.

She determines to unearth the owner of that sinister hand, and discovers Ponape Burke, who confesses he is a smuggler of coconuts. Burke permits her a glimpse of a savage brown man, Olive, hiding with him.

Palmyra gradually convinces herself she is in love with Van Buren Rutger. Burke and Olive leave the yacht at Honolulu and Palmyra's engagement to Van Buren is announced. The yacht Rainbow is wrecked, and the party lands on an uninhabited island. Burke appears on the Pigeon of Noah and promises to rescue them. Palmyra goes on board alone to investigate, and finds herself a prisoner. Burke sails away with Palmyra, telling her it was he who wrecked her yacht. Thurston and Van Buren start in vain pursuit. Burke grows ugly at Palmyra's refusal to listen to his love-making. He leaves her alone on a deserted island for a few months with barely enough food to last until he shall return.

In the morning she sees Olive, the brown man, swimming toward her. Exhausted from a long swim, he falls asleep. When he awakens he attempts sign language. Finally he communicates to her the idea that he and she are to swim away together in the limitless sea. He makes her a life preserver of coconut husks and they start their ocean journey. Palmyra manages to send a message for help, and again they start their ocean journey. Burke's ship is again seen in pursuit. By clever maneuvering Olive eludes it. A ship is sighted at last. It is the Imperial Japanese gunboat with Thurston and Van Buren aboard and Commander Sakamoto in command. Olive's signals fail to reach it. Soon they see the Pigeon of Noah in close pursuit. Escape seems impossible but Olive hurdles a reef with marvelous skill. They land on Olive's island at last. Palmyra is greeted by Thurston, Van Buren and her parents. Palmyra breaks her engagement to Rutger as she realizes that it is Thurston she loves.

Burke follows Palmyra and has her kidnapped by natives. The entire settlement is aroused, and her parents institute a search for her. Thurston, Rutger and Olive join the searchers. Olive finds Palmyra and arranges her escape.

INSTALLMENT LVIII. A SLIP.

Ponape Burke turned a savage face from this greasy pork to the man who had tricked him—his prisoner. Then an oath and a laugh struggled for simultaneous expression. For there, bloody, desperate, stood the brown man Olive.

Olive shook his head in defiance.

"By Gad," cried Burke at length, "I might of known from the first it was you."

Instantly sensing the islander's purpose, Ponape raced back to his post on the landward beach, bellowed at the other guards to regain theirs. Then he searched the four houses once more. Olive, seemingly, would not have been forced to such expedient had Palmyra not been there.

But again—failure. Nor, though the whole village was combed, was the girl found.

The white man's features were contorted. He rushed up to the prisoner. "Where is she?" he demanded.

Olive clamped his lips shut.

"Where is she?"

"Safe away."

"You lie. Again, where?"

The brown man shrugged.

Midway of the islet in view from most of the thatches, stood a spreading mal tree. Burke turned toward this. "Bring that devil along," he ordered. "And," significantly, "bring a line from the whaleboat."

It had been Burke's sudden descent upon the four houses which precipitated catastrophe. The villagers, grown overconfident, had thought he would not look there again. Olive, having seen the messenger from the Pigeon of Noah, had assumed erroneously that the schooner was ready; that Ponape, seizing the girl now, could sail at once. In desperation the brown man had snatched up the hat, veil and raincoat; thrown these about the pig—cooked to send to the feast down the coast.

Running toward the outer end of the islet, he had hoped to draw off Burke and the crew, so the villagers could rush Palmyra shoreward to safety. He would hold the pursuit by carrying the pig into the sea; perhaps himself escape if Ponape feared the sound of firing. But, one misstep, and he had been caught before there was time to get the girl away.

Hence it was that she herself, peering tensely out, saw Olive led to the mal tree, his wrists bound behind him.

She saw the master in vehement demand for her surrender; Olive shake his head in defiance.

And then, with a gasp of horror, she saw Ponape Burke toss the line over a limb of the tree, draw a noose tight about his prisoner's throat. The villagers, crowding round Burke's guards, waited in consternation.

Ponape turned to them. "If you would save this man's life—speak!"

But Olive, pale yet unflinching, besought their silence.

They would have been glad to have this white woman off their hands and Olive free. The Japanese could not punish their yielding to force. They wished to yield—but the will of this one being held them fast.

Presently, as they continued dumb, Burke's elementary features began to express an odd chagrin. He snapped out his warning again, but his eyes as they darted back and forth were uneasy. "I thought they'd come across," he muttered. "I sure thought they'd come across."

Strange to say he was, at the moment, less concerned for himself than Olive. He had threatened to hang this man; he did not see how he could avoid hanging him; unexpectedly he did not want to hang him. All he wanted was Palmyra. Against his brown follower—flesh being born to treachery—he had little grudge. With the girl back aboard the Pigeon of Noah, Olive could go.

Ponape, in truth, had always delighted in the other's courage and resourcefulness; most of all in his envied strength. And now he was surprised, vaguely troubled by a sense of fondness, heretofore unsuspected.

Burke's anger transferred itself to the villagers. After all, it was they who balked him.

"Dam! their animal eyes," he growled. "They don't want this buck kanaka o' mine hanged. I'll make a good show o' getting ready. Maybe some one'll weaken first."

Nor had he long to wait. Unnoticed, a boy had wormed into the crowd, a bit of paper folded small in his hand. His purpose was to toss the note so Ponape could get it, yet not know whence it came. But the urchin blundered. As the message left his fingers, Burke saw. The white man snatched up the paper, unfolded it, read:

Your sacred word to free Olive unharmed (also the others), and I give myself up. He shall not die for me. If you promise, call loudly—yes.

Burke uttered a crow of victory. Whirling toward the point from which he conceived the note to have come, he put his hands to his mouth and shouted: "No, no, NO!"

Then he clutched the boy by the wrist. "Show me where."

His revolver menacing, the messenger began to cry.

Scowling villagers would have interfered. But he ordered his men to cock their rifles, hold the natives back.

Then again to the boy: "Where is she? Where?"

Under the muzzle of the big weapon the urchin quailed. He was appalled at Burke's anger. And he saw that his own people wavered. At last, therefore, he raised a trembling finger, pointed toward a group of thatches.

Olive lunged forward, almost freed himself. His hands loosed, he would, it seemed, have snatched this willing limb from limb. The boy cringed, knowing not which the more to fear.

Burke, in high humor, winked evilly at his brown man. Then he jerked the lad toward the indicated houses. "Come, lead the way."

The boy, digging his one available fist into his eyes, haltingly brought Ponape Burke to a hut some hundred yards landward. "In there," he whimpered.

Burke sprang under, dragged his guide with him. The house had been searched before. It was empty now.

His hand knotted upon the barrel of the revolver. He clutched it threateningly.

How to Skin Live Bears.
"In my varied experience as a hunter and trapper," said Dr. George A.
Baldpate recently to D. A. Middleton,

"I have found the grizzly bear the hardest animal to skin of any I ever caught. After a little concentrated thought, however, I solved the problem in a very ingenious manner."

"As everyone knows, I always catch my grizzlies alive, and kill and skin them at my convenience. I find by feeding a bear on buttermilk, that I can fatten him very quickly, thus increasing the size of the pelt, and making it worth more."

"When a bear has reached about twice normal size, and his skin is stretched accordingly, I suddenly change his diet, giving him a double ration of a well-known flesh-reducing panacea. In a few days the bear is nothing but skin and bones," thanks to the painless flesh reducer.

"After chloroforming the bear, which is the most humane way to kill it, I inflate the skin to its full size with an ordinary tire pump, inserted under the skin at the base of the skull. By prying the bear's jaws apart the bones may be easily shaken out through the mouth, leaving the bear skin whole and unblemished."

"The only disadvantage in skinning bears this way is the fact that the hunter gets no meat from the bear, but then few people care for bear meat, anyway."

THE EDITOR'S GOSSIP SHOP.

A pleasing surprise—we should say fact rather than surprise—have been the contributions to the Tongue-Twister poem and Kid Boots series.

Tongue-Twister poems call for an understanding of human nature and speech—as well as a keen ear. All of us, at one time or another, have been caught with phrases in our speech which caused the words to come out everything else but!

The application of these phrases, rather than the use of manufactured ideas, is what we want for the Tongue-Twister poems. And 90 per cent of those we have received from readers have "caught" the idea.

The Kid Boots essays are immensely popular—for the same reason that child sayings are. All of us were kids once and we can all appreciate the workings of the Kid Boots mind.

Dante, the Wonder Man
(At the Atlanta.)

Old and young alike are reveling in the thrills and excitement furnished by Dante, the noted European magician, whose remarkable exhibition is already the talk of the town.

It was while sojourning in India, when his father was stationed there, that Dante, under the tuition of a band of mahatmas, acquired the occult powers which enable him to present so successfully some of the illusions and mysteries for which the Orient—particularly India—has been famed for centuries.

The Dante performances are a new phenomenon of the age. You may ask her any question. She is said to be unequalled as an exponent of mental telepathy. The mysterious Chinese fountain of myriad streams is a spectacle of ancient oriental splendor. Altogether Dante furnishes an entertainment that is fascinating in the extreme.

"Musical Comedy"
(At the Lyric.)

The way Fred Raymond, Edith Luckett, and all the rest of Lyric players' old favorites skip and step and warble through the fascinating melodies and quick-moving synopses of "Very Good Eddie" has made even the most ardent of fans like them just a little better.

They feel a little happier that they were brought back to Atlanta just six weeks ago. The production is immense, to phrase it conservatively.

Performances: 11:30-1:00-2:00-4:00-5:45-7:30-9:15

Catherine Jones, Freida Sullivan, and other specially added members of the company for the first time, have taken the house by storm with the beauty of their dancing. Two performances today give regular patrons and others who have been waiting for a real treat the best opportunity for varied amusement and laughter that the players have offered during the new engagement.

Keith's Vaudeville.
(At the Forsyth Theatre.)

Elaborate scenic effects forming an unusual background to a more unusual terpsichorean revue will be included in the "Iceberg Frolics," a novelty production of the first water, being offered by Nellie Sterling company at Keith's Forsyth theater, as the headlining feature the last three days of this week.

The program also includes the act of Mullen and Francis, "Laugh Makers Supreme," as an added attraction to the bill. Walter and May Siegfried present a special feature in their latest comedy vehicle entitled "Water, Water, Everywhere." Albright and Harte are highly entertaining in their "Melodious Bits," while the Roulettes, the "World's Heavyweight Jugglers" present an unusual offering.

A Pathe News reel and an installment of Aesop's Fables complete the bill.

Vaudeville and Pictures.
(At Loew's Grand.)

The popular favorites, Jim Toney and Ann Norman, are making one great hit in Atlanta at Loew's Grand theater this week. This pair of clever and funny actors are heard on the bill of vaudeville, and their appearance is a signal for an continuous round of laughter and applause. The dancing of Mr. Toney will be anything less than superb in a long time and this, with the singing and dancing of Miss Norman, makes an act that is worth the whole price of admission. Four other splendid acts are on the bill. Irene Rich is seen in the photoplay, "This Woman."

Pola Negri.
(At the Howard.)

Pola Negri in her latest picture, "East of Suez," is a production that is well worth seeing. It is a story of fascinating China, and holds one from start to finish. Several well known stars will be seen in the supporting cast which adds greatly to the enjoyment of the picture. "East of Suez," the picture is Virginia Fuelleire in an atmospheric presentation and the overture is "Zampa," played by the Howard Symphony orchestra.

Peerless Entertainers.
(On the Howard Prologue.)

The Peerless Entertainers, billed as "Kings of Rhythm and Monarchs of Syncope," will be the prologue at the Howard this coming week. A massive 15-foot piano, one of the largest ever seen on any stage, also will be another feature in presenting the Peerless Entertainers. It is a long time since a jazz orchestra has been seen on the Howard stage outside of the regular Symphonic Union. Several late numbers will be played by the Peerless Entertainers, who are being looked forward to with great interest by Atlanta music lovers. Special lighting and stage effects will accompany the entertainers.

Movie Kisses.

Movie kisses haven't got the "kick" of real ones, allows Constance Talmadge, who does some extensive kissing in her latest picture, "Her Night of Romance," the picture to be shown at the Metropolitan.

"Tomorrow's Love."
(At the Rialto.)

Winner of a beauty contest and the title of the prettiest girl in Texas, Alice Ayres, who has been in a minor role in "Tomorrow's Love," Agnes Ayres' latest starring picture for Paramount, with Paul Bern directed. Pat O'Malley is Miss Ayres' leading man in "Tomorrow's Love" at the Rialto.

CHICAGO DEMOCRATIC BUILDING IS BOMBED

Chicago, January 28.—A bomb was exploded in the doorway of a democratic club in the fourteenth ward, where factional political differences have been running high, according to the police, as the February election approaches. The explosion rocked the three-story brick building, rudely waking several families in the building, tore the floor of the club from its supports and shattered many windows in that and nearby buildings.
